OSTEND, Belgium, Nov. 16 (AP).—A flaming Belgian air liner crashed in a fog today, all but wiping out the ancient Grand Ducal line of Hesse Bei Rhein. The victims:

Grand Duke George Donatus von Hesse Bei Rhein, thirty-one, grandson of Queen Victoria.

The Grand Duke's twenty-six-year-old wife, the former Princess Cecile of Greece and Denmark and a first cousin of Princess Marina, Duchess of Kent.

POWELL FREED ON HEAVY BAIL

Steps Taken to Quash Convictions and Sentences Of Social Crediters

EDMONTON, Nov. 16 (CP).—Steps to obtain quashing of convictions and sentences on G. F. Powell, British Social Credit adviser to the Alberta Social Credit Board, and Joseph H. Unwin, Social Credit Member of the Alberta Legislature for Edson, for publishing defamatory libel knowing it to be false, were under way here tonight.

Both Mr. Powell and Mr. Unwin were released on bail of $20,000 late this afternoon. Mr. Powell's bonds were arranged first, and about half an hour later Mr. Unwin's bonds were arranged.

Applications for their release on bail were approved by Chief Justice Horace Harvey, and the bail of $20,000 was the same amount as that on which they were released.

NOTICE OF APPEAL

Notice of appeal on behalf of Mr. Powell was filed today. He was convicted yesterday by Mr. Justice Ives in the Supreme Court of Alberta at a non-jury trial, and sentenced to six months in jail, with hard labor, and a recommendation made for his deportation. Notice of appeal from the conviction and sentence of Mr. Unwin after a jury trial to three months in jail with hard labor was filed previously.

E. B. Cogswell, K.C., Crown prosecutor, announced proceedings would be stayed in the charges of counselling to murder and seditious libel against the two men. All charges developed from circulation of a pamphlet entitled "Bankers' Toadies," which named nine Edmonton men.

KIDNAPPERS GET FREE FROM JAIL

Three Escape From Penitentiary With Guns After Trussing Up Six Guards

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 16 (AP).—Three convicted members of the United States "last organized kidnap gang," armed with two guns and ready to "shoot it out," left a faint trail tonight for Federal and state pursuers after an early-morning jail break.

The trio—Percy Geary, thirty-four; John Oley, thirty-six, and Harold Crowley, thirty-five—trussed up six guards, menaced them with smuggled guns and fled from the Onondaga County Penitentiary at nearby Jamesville, where they were held pending appeal from Federal prison sentences for the 1933 O'Connell kidnapping.

The three men drove off in a commandeered car and disappeared.

STATE VISITS ARE STARTED

King of Belgium in London—Viscount Halifax Leaves For Berlin

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP).—King Leopold, of Belgium, came to London tonight and Viscount Halifax left for Berlin, both on state visits in the interest of European peace.

King Leopold received a glittering state welcome when he arrived for a three-day visit by which he hopes to strengthen the friendship between his country and the British Empire.

A few hours earlier, Viscount Halifax left for Berlin to confer with Chancellor Hitler on matters of importance to British-German relations.

WELCOMED BY KING

King George, wearing the crimson tunic of a field marshal, welcomed the Belgian monarch at Victoria Station and took him to Buckingham Palace, where he was the guest at a state banquet tonight. Leopold wore a khaki service uniform, with the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter across his chest.

They drove to the palace in an open carriage drawn by six Windsor greys, with King George's escort of Royal Horse Guards ahead and behind.

SAFE IS ROBBED AT PORT ALBERNI

Coach Lines Lose Over Three Hundred Dollars—Other Money Scattered Over Floor

(Special to The Colonist)

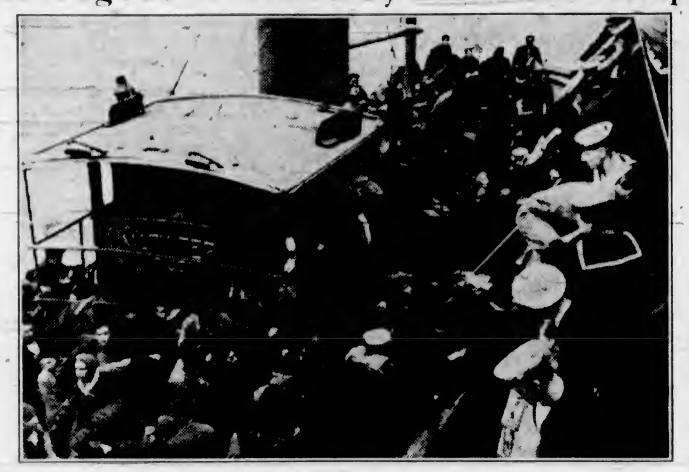

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 16.—Up until this evening the police had no clue as to the robbery of the safe of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines in this city, which took place this morning.

The first intimation that someone had entered the premises of the stage company was when Edward Williams, local agent, opened the office at 6:30 this morning. He was startled to see money scattered over the office floor, and investigation showed that the safe had been opened and the contents removed.

When he closed the safe about midnight there was approximately $454 in the vault, it is reported. The safe door was open and $344 missing.

The thief, in his hurry, must have dropped $140 on the floor, and this was the only amount recovered.

Refugees Rescued by British Warship

H.M.S. Southampton rescued 291 Spanish refugees from Gijon, the second lot to be rescued by the same warship within a few days. The Spaniards were adrift in a disabled trawler, the Mary Tero, and had had no food for five days when picked up. They were 140 miles from land, and were trying to use bed-sheets for sails. Our picture shows the weakened refugees being helped aboard the British vessel.

B.C.E.R. Co., Ltd., Officials Contemplate Action December 5, 1938

COUNCIL TO RESCIND PLEBISCITE MOTION

Street cars may cease to operate here after December 5, 1938, when the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Ltd., franchise expires. The important announcement was made yesterday afternoon by Alderman Archie Wills, chairman of the franchise committee, following a conference attended by Mayor Andrew McGavin, aldermen, W. G. Murrin, president, A. T. Goward, vice-president and general manager of the B.C. Electric, and S. J. Halls, superintendent of light and power.

"There is absolutely no possibility of the city taking over and operating the street car system. As far as Victoria is concerned, street cars will soon be a thing of the past. It is quite evident future transportation will be provided by a bus sys-

Both Sides Make Plea For Peace

JERUSALEM, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—Palestine tension lessened tonight as both Jewish and Arab members of the Jerusalem Municipal Council exhorted their fellow countrymen to end recent bloody fighting and acts of terrorism that have taken a heavy toll in dead and wounded.

British authorities shortened the curfew imposed on Jerusalem.

Jewish synagogues held services calling for peace in the Holy Land.

King of Belgians Has Confidence In Great Britain's Friendship

(Copyright, 1937, by The Havas News Agency)

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—Leopold III, King of the Belgians, exchanging personal toasts with King George VI at a state banquet in Buckingham Palace tonight expressed confidence Great Britain would again, as in 1914, rally to Belgium's defence if she were attacked.

"When the hour struck," Leopold said, speaking in English, "she (Great Britain) at once and without hesitation made good her word, and we are confident that, if ill-fortune should befall us again, we should always find in her that sure support which, joined to our own unshakable determination to defend ourselves, would successfully repel all danger from our soil."

King George opened the toasts by proposing the health of his royal guest.

Claims Producers Alarmed Over New Trade Pact Moves

Herbert Anscomb States Mainland Interests Concerned Over Arrangements Entered Into by Prime Minister and President Roosevelt, Fearing Curtailment of Privileges

BRITISH Columbia producers of lumber and agricultural products were greatly alarmed at what they believed to be a distinct threat to their interests in the United Kingdom market, declared Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., in addressing a meeting in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, last night in the interests of B. A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate in the Federal by-election here. This threat, he said, came as a result of arrangements said to have been entered into between Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt.

"So concerned were the producers that serious curtailment of the preferences enjoyed under the Ottawa intra-Empire trade treaties of 1932 was threatened that a meeting was held in the Hotel Georgia, in Vancouver, a few days ago," Mr. Anscomb declared.

Mr. McKelvie, in his address later, put the matter up to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, who will arrive in Victoria to take part in the campaign. He asked Mr. Mackenzie to define his own attitude on the question of British trade preferences for British Columbia products, and to state what the effect upon this province would

CHINA FIGHTING IN DESPERATION

Government Starts Evacuating Nanking—Japanese Armies Closing In

SHANGHAI, Nov. 17 (AP).—China was fighting a desperate, back-to-the-wall fight today to preserve her independence from Japan.

The Government began evacuating Nanking, the capital. General Chiang Kai-Shek's forces strove frantically to hold Soochow, pivotal point of the main Chinese defence line, against 250,000 Japanese stretched across a 110-mile front fifty miles west of Shanghai.

FLEE BY THOUSANDS

Terrified Chinese fled by thousands from the path of two Japanese armies—one striking west from Shanghai in a drive on Nanking, the other closing in on Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province in North China.

China's forces in the north struggled to prevent the Japanese from crossing the Yellow River, the main barrier to Tsinan, despite

RUSSIA WITHDRAWS OBJECTIONS TO NON-INTERVENTION PROPOSAL

Soviet Delegate Accepts Plan for Granting Limited Belligerency Rights to Both Sides in Spanish Civil War—Action Ends Deadlock in Sub-Committee Deliberations

Repatriation of Volunteer Troops May Meet Opposition

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—A major obstacle in the path of effective Spanish non-intervention was hurdled late today when Soviet Russia unreservedly accepted a resolution for granting limited belligerency rights to the civil war combatants following substantial withdrawal of foreign volunteers. The Soviet about-face, ending a twelve-day deadlock, was announced at a non-intervention sub-committee meeting by Russian Ambassador Maisky.

After recalling concessions his government "made in the interests of harmony," Maisky said:

"Today I am in a position to inform the sub-committee that the Soviet Government, in order to facilitate still further the practical work on the Non-Intervention Committee for the withdrawal of foreign combatants from Spain, accept the resolution of November 4 in toto, without any reservations whatsoever, leaving, along with other Governments, its interpretation of the term 'substantial withdrawal' until the time when this question will come up for consideration in the committee."

REPATRIATION ISSUE

It was noted in this connection that Russia, Great Britain and France agreed in talks by their Foreign Ministries at Brussels last week that repatriation of 70 per cent of the foreigners now serving

Urge That Treaty Be Denounced

TOKIO, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—A resolution demanding Japan denounce the Nine-Power Pact affirming the integrity of China was adopted at a meeting of majority leaders in the House of Representatives.

Denunciation of the pact, the resolution said, would block foreign intervention in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Since the Nine-Power Pact was concluded with the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922, the resolution said, it should have terminated with the Washington Naval Pact that ended last year.

MAKING PLANS OF EVACUATION

British Government Fully Alive to Dangers of Possible Air Raids

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP).—The Government was advised today to prepare "for its own evacuation" in case of war and disastrous air raids on London as the House of Commons gave second reading, by a vote of 324 to 135, to the Air Raids Precautions Bill.

Expressing hope that "the Government is preparing for its own evacuation," O. E. Simmonds, Conservative, said this was a question "which cannot be left until hostilities break out."

Geoffrey Lloyd, under-secretary of the Home Office, said preliminary plans for evacuation had already been prepared in connection with London but he did not outline the plans.

LABOR IS OPPOSED

Labor voted against the measure on the ground that it represents too heavy a burden on local authorities called upon to pay a percentage of the cost of protection against aerial armadas.

The House was told more than 700,000 persons, mostly policemen, have been trained in anti-gas and general air raid precautions; 10,000 doctors are ready, and first aid training has been given to 60,000 people.

Output of civilian gas masks now amounts to 650,000 a week with 20,000,000 gas masks already manufactured.

Mr. Lloyd quoted experts as saying it was impossible to provide protection against direct hits by 500-pound semi-armor-piercing bombs. "The best policy is to advise people to stay in their own homes," and, where that is impossible, it is the duty of local authorities to provide shelter.

ANSWER IS "NO"

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP).—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, gave a flat "No" today in answer to a House of Commons question whether Great Britain, the United States and France were negotiating early return to the gold standard on the basis of reduced gold content of currencies.

SET RECORD FOR FLIGHT

Dash From London to Capetown Made in Forty-Five Hours

CAPETOWN, Nov. 16 (CP-Reuters).—Bringing their plane to earth here amid cheering crowds, Flying Officer A. E. Clouston and Mrs. Betty Kirby-Green tonight set a new record for the flight from London of forty-five hours and five minutes.

Their speedy flight brought them to the Cape thirty-three hours and twenty-four minutes ahead of the time taken by Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison on her record flight of May, 1936.

Other marks they set on their meteoric progress from Croydon Airport, which they left Sunday night, were the London-Cairo record and the London-Johannesburg mark.

GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME

A delighted throng pressed close to their machine as soon as it came to rest at 7 p.m., G.M.T. The flyers gaily acknowledged the cheers and neither appeared unduly tired, although they have had practically no rest on the ground in the last two days.

"Thanks very much, but please don't damage the machine," Clouston warned the crowd smilingly. "We want to go back to London in it."

Mrs. Kirby-Green explained a de-

Three Cases Of Paralysis Are Reported

NANAIMO, Nov. 16.—The discovery of three cases of infantile paralysis at Departure Bay district, four miles north of Nanaimo, has caused the rural school there to be closed for two weeks, according to Dr. C. C. Browne, provincial medical health officer of this district. The afflicted children are between eight and ten years of age. One child is severely stricken, and the two others are not as serious, Dr. Browne stated. Steps have been taken to fumigate the school, and a close check of all pupils is in progress. All cases discovered are children who recently came from the prairies.

CALLS SPECIAL HOUSE SESSION

Ontario Legislature Summoned for Dec. 1 to Amend Succession Duty Act

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP).—A special session of the Ontario Legislature has been called for December 1 to enact "necessary amendments to the Succession Duty Act," Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary and acting premier, announced tonight. He said the session probably would last six or seven days.

Mr. Nixon said the Government, with the validity of the investigating section of the act challenged recently in at least four public inquiries, "has no alternative" but to ask the Legislature to amend the section. He said the proposed amendments to the act would be the only matter under debate.

TO BE FORMALLY NOTIFIED

All members-elect of the Legislature will be formally notified tomorrow of the opening date of the special session. Several days ago, it was understood, they were advised by Major Alex C. Lewes, clerk of the House, to be sworn in with the least possible delay.

Amending legislation to the Succession Duties Act has been under preparation for several weeks by solicitors from the treasury and attorney-general's department, Mr. Nixon said. "It will be a thorough revision of the present law," he said. "We are determined to collect all the moneys properly owing to the Crown from estates which are now under reinvestigation."

Dr. Frank Patterson Joins Budget Debate In Keynote Address

Conservative Leader of Opposition Chides Government for Extravagance in Years of Peak Revenues—Pledges Municipal Aid

CALLING for economy in provincial affairs, a long-term road policy under an independent highway commission, adequate steps towards reforestation and immediate action to help British Columbia municipalities, Dr. Frank P. Patterson, Conservative leader of the Opposition, made the keynote address for his party in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, speaking for an hour on the budget debate.

R. R. Burns (Liberal, Rossland-Trail) and Louis LeBourdais (Liberal, Cariboo) followed, before debate was adjourned by Herbert Anscomb (Conservative, Victoria), who will speak first today.

Dr. Patterson said, in part:

"The Conservative party stands solidly for the maintenance of democratic principles of government. Its objective is the conduct of honest government in the interests of all and every class in the community. It believes that the welfare of British Columbia requires economy in administration consistent with steady and substantial progress. There has been too strong a tendency in the past for the Province to assume responsibilities that lay in the Dominion field. While we all recognize the urgent need for readjustment in Dominion - Provincial relationship,

Many Names High In French Politics Mentioned at Trial

Noisy Scenes Mark Hearing of Slander Actions—Premier Chautemps Among Those Accused Of Being Implicated in Stavisky Scandals

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP).—The names of nearly every prominent French politician of the past decade, headed by Premier Camille Chautemps, figured today in testimony at the trial of fifteen slander actions brought by Colonel Francois De La Rocque, Rightist leader.

The actions were against persons who charged De La Rocque formerly received Government "secret funds." The hearing was adjourned until November 29.

A noisy, crowded courtroom heard Rightist Deputy Henri de Kerillis quote a charge Chautemps was involved in the "assassination" in 1934 of Magistrate Albert Prince.

Prince was "the man who knew all" in the Stavisky scandals which started with discovery of fraud in the floating of municipal pawnshop bonds and brought on charges of political corruption that led to the downfall of Premier Edouard Daladier's Cabinet and the riots of February, 1934.

INVOLVES CHAUTEMPS

De Kerillis, appearing on behalf of De La Rocque, testified that former Premier Andre Tardieu, while Minister of State, had told him:

"I have proof that Chautemps was mixed up in the assassination of Prince. In two months Chautemps will be in prison."

Tardieu, in the courtroom, leaped to his feet in protest. "You have lied about it," he shouted. "You have just invented facts born in a disordered imagination."

"We know where Chautemps is now," De Kerillis said. "Tardieu that day, at least, exaggerated." Tardieu yesterday testified De La Rocque, when leader of the now banned military organization Croix de Feu, accepted secret Government funds.

Judge Prince was found dead on the eve of his appearance in the investigation of the famed "Stavisky scandals" and the mystery of his death has never been solved. It was reported at the time his testimony would have involved several high officials. Stavisky committed suicide.

DENIES FUNDS PAID

De Kerillis used the Prince case to emphasize his statement the colonel never received secret funds in spite of Tardieu's insistence he had subsidized De La Rocque.

Basque Deputy Jean Ybarnegaray testified former Premier Pierre Laval had told him he had received De La Rocque only once and therefore could not have given the Rightist leader secret funds.

Ybarnegaray clashed with Leon Daudet, prominent Royalist, one of the defendants. Daudet became so overwrought that his nose bled violently.

Ybarnegaray declared that De La Rocque was not acquainted with Tardieu during the period when the ex-premier claims to have helped finance the Croix de Feu with Government money. During his testimony, Ybarnegaray alluded to the late Andre Maginot, who, as War Minister, established the famous defence line which bears his name.

Daudet, his voice trembling with emotion, cried: "Don't allow Maginot to be brought into this!"

THREATENS EXPULSION

The presiding magistrate threatened to expel the Royalist, who retorted:

"Expel me if you like, but that won't keep me from saying what I think of Ybarnegaray."

"I speak the truth," Ybarnegaray asserted.

"You lie!" Daudet shouted. "Since Tardieu has unmasked the traitor who is here, my sympathies are with the former Premier." Here his nose began to bleed.

Ybarnegaray described a purported conversation with ex-Premier Albert Sarraut in an effort to show De La Rocque had received no secret Government funds.

be of Mr. King's policy of "economic appeasement" for United States.

CONSERVATIVE POLICIES

Conservative policies were presented to the electors by three speakers. They were Mr. Anscomb, W. H. M. Haldane, barrister, vice-president of the Victoria Conservative Association, and Mr. McKelvie. Gordon A. Cameron was chairman in the absence of Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown.

Mr. McKelvie, who was the chief speaker, dealt with a variety of subjects which he considered were of vital importance to the people of British Columbia. Chief among them were the Ottawa Agreements and the effect of those agreements on industrial British Columbia. He also discussed the proposal to annex the Yukon, the proposed construction of the Alaska-Pacific Highway and the political importance of the two measures.

ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN

"Why," asked Mr. McKelvie, "is the Liberal Government making such strenuous endeavors to win this seat? Not long ago two by-elections were held in Eastern Canada. They were not contested. Yet we have a Cabinet Minister leaving his important post at Ottawa to come here and take personal charge of an election campaign. Why should this be so?" Answering his own question, the candidate said: "Victoria is the most British community in the Dominion. Victoria is traditionally Conservative. Not for thirty years has a Liberal member won the seat."

Mr. McKelvie then reviewed the history of Canadian preferences in British markets for which, in 1932, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett was responsible. These preferences, he said, had been the salvation of British Columbia, and mentioned particularly lumber, canned salmon, fruit and metals.

OPPOSED TRADE PACTS

"Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Ian Mackenzie opposed those trade pacts. Just remember that. Mr. Bennett's Government was defeated in 1935, not by a rising tide of Liberalism, but by defections within the Conservative party that led to the Reconstruction party. Mr. King came into power in 1935, and what was his first action? He went to Washington and shortly after that visit he announced a new trade agreement with the United States. Mr. Bennett had declined to enter into a trade relationship with the United States that would not give equitable treatment to Canada and which might, in the form desired by our friends across the border, impinge upon the British Empire trade agreements."

Mr. McKelvie reviewed the effect of any understanding with the United States to share the British markets with Canada which, the speaker stated, had been announced in London last Summer. "I would ask Mr. Ian Mackenzie to define his attitude on this and I ask him to explain how Mr. King's evident desire to give economic appeasement to the United States will affect this province.

LIBERAL INTEREST

"There," said Mr. McKelvie, "you have the real reason for the Liberal interest in this by-election. I ask you to give careful thought to those matters, and, when you have done so, I believe you will know why all the power and all the wealth of the Federal and Provincial Liberals will be used to try and take this election."

"If," continued the speaker, "Mr. Ian Mackenzie, who referred to Lord Elibank as a 'peregrinating Imperialist,' is able to entice the most British city in Canada from its consistent support of the Conservative party, it will mean just this. Mr. King will consider that he has a mandate for economic appeasement of United States—and that at the expense of the intra-Empire trade agreements. He will also consider it a mandate to load the Yukon onto the shoulders of the British Columbia taxpayers—again for the advantage of the United States. The real issue, therefore, is whether or not you prefer the maintenance of British associations, or the doubtful benefits to be obtained from the Blue Eagle."

After paying tribute to his opponents, Mr. McKelvie referred to what he termed "an insidious, undemocratic and un-British appeal that was being made by some Liberals in the present campaign. The appeal, he said, was that if a Liberal was returned, Victoria would obtain more favors than if the citizens remained true to their principles and returned a Conservative.

KIDD COMMITTEE

"Mr. Mayhew," said the speaker, "has gone on record as abhorring any such methods. I will read you the statement from the Kidd committee report, a committee of which Mr. Meyhew was a member. He said: 'We are of the opinion that the time has come for a complete change in the ideas, opinions and motives which have influenced both the electors and the elected in the past. Patronage and self-interest have been allowed to control the affairs of Government, and the public purse has been regarded as an inexhaustible booty upon which all may prey.'"

Mr. McKelvie also stated there should not be party politics in the administration of matter of national defence. "The defences necessary to this coast will be constructed no matter who wins this election," he said.

ISLAND DEVELOPMENT

Concluding his address, Mr. McKelvie pointed out the value of tourist traffic to Victoria and Vancouver Island generally. In this connection he suggested subsidized ferry rates from the Mainland on the assumption the Western terminus of the Trans-Canada Highway was at Tofino. He said he also advocated a long-range plan of construction of small public works to give employment to youth. If elected, he stated, he would press for the creation of a Dominion park on the Island. He mentioned Strathcona Park had been set aside to be developed as a national park area thirty-seven years ago, and nothing had been done for more than twenty years to make it a real asset.

Mr. Anscomb discussed the C.C.F. policy of granting votes to Orientals, to which, he said, the Conservatives were unalterably opposed; unemployment insurance that the Conservative party had always stood for and the party's opposition to the interference of government in private enterprise.

Mr. Haldane touched on the Dominion railway problem, the proposed amendments to the British North America Act and the Royal Commission, and said "One would have thought it would have been an easier matter for the Government to co-operate with the Liberal governments in the various provinces instead of setting up a Royal Commission, a report from which may not be expected for many months."

Biliousness was entirely checked. I suffered with Eczema and this disappeared too." Poor liver action causes biliousness, and other ills. Fruit-a-tives bring quick relief and lasting liver health. tem of some sort," Mayor McGavin stated after the meeting.

RESCIND PLEBISCITE

At a City Council meeting on October 22, the franchise committee suggested voters be asked "Are you in favor of buses or street cars" when they went to the polls on December 9. The motion will be rescinded in view of the outcome of yesterday's conference.

Although the conference was held in camera, Alderman Wills stated he had been empowered as chairman to give out certain facts.

It was pointed out by B. C. Electric officials that the company was not prepared to meet the enormous expense of rehabilitating Victoria's street car system. They would cease to operate street cars on December 5, 1938, when the franchise expired. But operation might be extended for another year after that date if the City Council so desired.

LOSES MONEY

Mr. Murrin asserted the company lost $60,000 per year on the street car system here, after deductions were made for depreciation. The system had a book value of $1,480,000. Many of the comany's 130 employees received 69.5 cents per hour, one of the highest street car rates on the continent. The company was prepared to sell the street railway to the city if the city wished to enter the transportation business.

In view of recent outstanding changes in transportation and the annual loss sustained by the company, it could not see its way clear to make any further major expenditures on street cars here, Mr. Murrin told the meeting.

He estimated an efficient bus system for areas now served by street cars would cost $750,000, and naturally, if the company operated buses, it would like to take care of its present employees. He thought interest of 5 per cent should be earned on the investment required for a bus system, and that present wage scales should be maintained.

CURRENT RATES

During a discussion on rates for electricity here, Mr. Murrin asserted they were slightly cheaper in Vancouver, practically the same at Seattle, and higher at Spokane and Portland. He said he was quite willing to attend another conference to deal with other franchise matters.

Goldstream sub-station was also discussed. Under terms of the franchise, the city has to take over the plant next year at a price to be agreed upon by arbitration.

In commenting upon the meeting, Alderman Wills thought any company operating buses in place of street cars might be allowed to earn 5 per cent on its investment and divide surplus profit with the city. He felt fares might be maintained at six cents for a period until it could be ascertained if a company was making a fair return on its investment.

He was of the opinion that Oak Bay and Esquimalt representatives might be invited to the next franchise committee meeting, since those districts would be affected by termination of street car service.

Fuel Report Will Be Tabled Shortly In B.C. Legislature

REMINDING the Administration that the report of the Royal Commission on costs and profits in the coal and fuel oil industries would by statute become the property of members of the Legislature two weeks after it had been received by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, R. L. Maitland, K.C. (Cons., Point Grey), received the assurance of Premier Pattullo yesterday in the House that the report would be tabled "in a day or two." The record was voluminous and time was required to present it in comprehensive form, Premier Pattullo said.

heavy casualties from air and artillery attacks.

If the Japanese penetrate the powerful "Hindenburg line" anchored on Soochow, Changshu and Kashing, the Chinese were expected to fall back to new positions stretching from Kiangyin, on the Yangtze River, to Wusih, 100 miles east of Nanking. Behind it are said to be still stronger fortifications culminating in the hills around Nanking.

MINISTRIES DISPERSED

Central Government civil ministries were to be dispersed among several cities with Hankow on the Yangtze River as the main haven.

Other departments were assigned temporarily to Changsha, in Hunan Provnce south of Hankow, and to Chungkang, in Szechwan Province.

The executive yuan, legislative yuan, judicial yuan and control yuan were to move to Chungking.

Foreign embassies arranged the evacuation of their nationals, but faced an acute transportation problem. Chinese refugees virtually were fighting for space on the few remaining steamships in Nanking's harbor.

REFUGEES POUR IN

Thirty-eight British, seventy American and 100 German subjects still were in the capital and the number mounted steadily as war refugees poured in from other cities closer to the front.

Military authorities remained at the capital which high officials declared would not be abandoned. They said General Chiang himself would command Nanking's defenders to the last.

NINE SETS FOR LATEST MOVIE

Production of "The Devil In Ermine" to Begin in Victoria on Thursday

"The Devil in Ermine," twelfth picture to be made by Central Films, Ltd., will be commenced tomorrow at the Willows Studios, according to a statement made yesterday by Kenneth J. Bishop, president.

Work at the studio is being supervised by Jack Regan, set dresser, who arrived in Victoria during the week-end with Jack Fier, representative of Columbia Pictures, Inc., for whom the film is being made under British quota regulations. Other members of the party included: George R. Caddle, unit manager; Leon Barsha, director; Gary A. Harris, soundman, and Jack Haynes, assistant soundman.

Mr. Harris is a Victoria man, who found success in Hollywood. He has enjoyed a happy reunion here with his mother, and looks forward to his work in this city.

ARRIVE IN CITY

Yesterday afternoon, Rita Hayworth and Charles Quigley, who are to play the leads in "The Devil in Ermine," arrived in Victoria, accompanied by George MacKay, comedian, and Eddie Laughton, actor. William Perry, electrician; Al Becker, grip; George Rhein, assistant director, and George Meehan, cameraman, are other members of the technical crew now in the city. Miss Hayworth has recently completed "Murder in Swingtime," which was directed by Mr. Barsha.

Edgar Edwards, another member of the cast, will arrive in Victoria today, while Bill Irving is expected Friday. Don Douglas and John Spacey should be here by November 27.

Nine sets are now being constructed at the Willows. Three are new structures, while the remainder are transformations of the company's last production, "Murder Is News."

It is anticipated that "The Devil in Ermine," a fur-smuggling story, with its setting on the Canadian-United States border, will take sixteen days in production.

SET RECORD FOR FLIGHT

lay at Khartoum which caused anxiety early in the day when the plane was four hours overdue at Broken Hill, Northern Rhodesia. The flyers lacked the necessary permission to fly over the Sudan, she said, and had to wait till it was obtained.

SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

A cable from Air Minister Viscount Swinton in London offered the flyers congratulations "on your fine performance." They announced they would rest tomorrow and would take off on the return flight Thursday in an effort to capture the round-trip record.

Flying a DeHavilland Comet, the same plane in which C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black won the Mildenhall-to-Melbourne Air Derby in 1934, Mr. Clouston and Mrs. Kirby-Green left Croydon at 9:55 p.m. on Sunday.

They reached Cairo eleven hours, four minutes later to set a new record, and after a brief stop continued to Khartoum, where they arrived Monday afternoon. They had a few hours' rest at the Nile River point due to the delay over the desert permit, and then winged their way the 2,200 miles to Broken Hill.

ANOTHER RECORD BROKEN

After a forty-minute stop at Broken Hill they took to the air again and reached Johannesburg at 2:08 p.m., G.M.T., forty hours and thirteen minutes after leaving London. This time eclipsed by more than twelve hours the record set by Mr. Scott and Giles Guthrie in the London-Johannesburg race last year. The couple completed the flight to Capetown in five hours.

The flyers are attempting to break the round-trip record Mrs. Mollison set last year of seven days, twenty-two hours, forty-six minutes.

By contrast to the present dash across Africa, the first plane to fly from England to the Cape, a Royal Air Force machine, took forty-five days in 1920.

Mrs. Kirby-Green, thirty-two-year-old owner of two London clubs, learned to fly only last year.

Clouston is a veteran of the air, a Royal Air Force pilot and native of New Zealand.

THE REAL ISSUE

EMPIRE PREFERENCES SAVED INDUSTRIES OF THIS PROVINCE

Victoria is acknowledged to be the foremost community in Canada in its regard for British institutions and adherence to Imperial relationships.

During the past two years has there not been an apparent tendency at Ottawa to cultivate closer affiliations elsewhere that may require development at the expense of intra-Empire associations? You do not, I am sure, forget the outspoken indication of this on the part of Hon. Ian Mackenzie in his denunciation of Lord Elibank.

You all remember the Imperial Conference at Ottawa in 1932. You cannot forget it, for the preferences secured in Empire markets for Canadian products by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett have been the salvation of British Columbia. Just think it over, carefully and judicially: ask yourself these questions:

Where would we have sold our lumber during the past four years if those trade pacts had not given us preferred markets in British countries, and especially in United Kingdom?

Where would our canned salmon have been marketed if there had been no preferences?

Without a protected market for our apples, where would B.C. fruit growers have found export sales?

Where would we have been accorded preference for our metals if those Empire agreements had not been negotiated at Ottawa?

Who obtained those preferences? It was Mr. Bennett.

Who most bitterly opposed them? It was Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Ian Mackenzie, and every member of the Liberal party then in Parliament, with one exception, Mr. Ilsley. Do not accept my word for it. Read through the pages of Hansard for the year 1933. Their record is there.

BRUCE A. McKELVIE
Conservative Candidate

THE WASHINGTON TREATY

Now let us briefly review some of the outstanding events of the past twenty-five months. You will recall that in the election of October, 1935, Mr. Bennett was swept out of office and Mr. King with 177 followers took charge of government. It was a great victory. Liberals throughout Canada acclaimed it.

Let us regard that victory, not through the colored lenses of partisanship, but reasonably and sanely as Canadians intent only upon doing what is right and just for our country.

There were but forty Conservatives returned. What was the cause of defeat? You will recall that there was an unfortunate disruption within the Cabinet, and one Minister left and formed a new Party.

Three weeks before election day the Financial Post, one of the leading financial papers in Canada, gave as its considered opinion that the Reconstruction Party would take at least seventy seats. It did not, as a matter of fact. Only the leader of that party was elected, but the point I wish to make is this. The apparent strength of the Reconstruction Party was such as to cause belief right up to polling day that it would return seventy members. It is reasonable, then, to assume that in seventy constituencies the split in the Conservative party was responsible for the defeat of the supporters of Mr. Bennett. If such is a fair assumption, then Mr. King's great victory should not be ascribed to a decisive swing towards Liberal doctrines. Nor could it be interpreted as a mandate to seriously interfere with Imperial Conference decisions.

Now, let us look at the record again. Within a few days of taking office, you will recall, and flushed with his success at the polls, Mr. King, as his very first move, went directly to Washington.

This visit to President Roosevelt was followed almost immediately by announcement of the signing of a trade agreement with United States. Such an agreement had been under negotiation before Mr. Bennett left office. He would not sign it in the form that Washington desired upon two grounds; that it was not fair to Canada, and that it could not, in that form, be regarded as wholly consistent with the intent of the Imperial trade agreements.

May I digress here to remark that I have the highest possible regard for United States as a neighbor, but that friendly feeling does not extend to such lengths that I would sacrifice Canadian or British interests to enhance it.

I do not say that Mr. King is anti-Imperialistic. I simply ask you to consider his public attitude throughout his career since first taking office. I think you will agree that he has justified the inference that he is anxious to see United States trade expand.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

There was an Imperial Conference in London this last Summer, when the Ottawa agreements were reviewed. You will recall that dispatches from there suggested that Mr. King would not be averse to having United States' products enter the British markets upon an equality with those of Canada.

But what is our position?

What will happen to our lumbering industry if Oregon and Washington timber is to enter United Kingdom under preference? Think it over.

If the advantage now enjoyed in Great Britain for Canadian apples is to be shared with American fruit, what will be the position of the fruitgrowers in this province?

If Columbia River and Alaskan canned salmon are to be admitted to the London and Liverpool markets on a parity with ours, how will that affect our fishery returns?

If the high preference for Canadian metals is to be lowered, what will that mean to mining in British Columbia?

Think those questions over carefully. Remember that any increase in sales in the British markets of products competitive to those of Canada must be at our expense.

THAT QUESTION OF ANNEXATION OF THE YUKON TERRITORY

So much for trade. There is one other matter I will briefly touch upon. It is the proposal to annex the Yukon to British Columbia. Why should we take over a vast and largely undeveloped territory at this time? A few days ago Mr. Hart, in his Budget speech, disclosed that, despite the largest Provincial income in history, he had to borrow $5,000,000 this year; that approximately one-third of our revenues must go to pay interest on our debt; that proper provision is not being made to provide for maturity of that debt, and that we are approximately $12,000,000 short in our sinking funds.

We were also told that the Province could afford no assistance to municipalities in their dire distress and that overburdened property-owners can expect no relief from high taxation. Is this, then, the time to consider taking over the Yukon, which is removed from our existing highway system, as far distant as Calgary is from Victoria?

A CORRIDOR FOR WASHINGTON

There can be but one purpose for this proposal. It is that a road may be made available through Provincial territory to meet the wishes of United States. There can be no other possible justification, at this time, than a desire on the part of Ottawa to open a corridor through this province for Washington.

Who would pay for the road? United States may be willing to provide the capital sum required, but who would pay for the upkeep? But can Canada, which boasts of its being an independent nation, accept subsidies from a foreign power? The Dominion could hardly do that and retain any pretentions to respectability. The Yukon is, today, under direct control of Ottawa. But if the territory was handed over to British Columbia, then Mr. King could shrug his shoulders and say that what the province did with its road system was no concern of the Federal Government. Think that over.

The excuse for the building of such a highway will be for the encouragement of tourist trade. All the revenues derived from tourists would not pay for the maintenance of the traffic patrol that would be required on the thousand miles of new construction that would be entailed. Read the report of the Commission to Study the Proposed Highway to Alaska, made to the President of United States, May 1, 1933. It was printed by order of Congress. I quote from page 36 on the subject of tourist trade possibilities:

"Examining the data available, which furnish a reasonable basis for an approximate estimate, it appears probable that 3,100 cars may be expected to travel large parts or all of the route the first year, and conservatively 4,000 cars in the fifth year."

UNITED STATES NEEDS THE HIGHWAY

If that road could be kept open for 200 days per year—which it could not—that would mean but twenty cars daily. But United States needs that road—and needs it badly.

Now, let us summarize the situation.

Victoria is regarded as being the most British community in Canada.

The trend at Ottawa for the past two years has been definitely towards the economic appeasement of United States.

United States desire for the construction of a road to Alaska is urgent.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, who denounced Lord Elibank as a peregrinating Imperialist, is being sent here to conduct this election campaign for the Liberals.

The 1935 election gave Mr. King a great majority, but no definite mandate on policy.

If, then, Victoria, the most British city in Canada, can be turned by Mr. Mackenzie from her traditional regard for British institutions and connections, and that in a province which has benefited most from the Ottawa trade agreements negotiated by Mr. Bennett, then the Liberal Government at Ottawa will consider it has a mandate to give the United States everything that it desires.

Such, ladies and gentlemen, is the issue of this campaign. And that is the reason why all the force and resources of the Liberal Governments at Ottawa and Victoria will be utilized to win this by-election.

I say to you: Defend our British associations and vote Conservative.

Delay in Insurance Flares Up as Issue In B.C. Legislature

Administration Taxed With Failure to Act on Plebiscite — Sitting Adjourns With Want-of-Confidence Move Still Under Debate on Floor

THE British Columbia Legislature finished its labors for the day yesterday with a C.C.F. want-of-confidence motion on health insurance hanging over the head of the administration in adjourned debate, after a spirited sitting which ran past 6 o'clock. Debate on the motion was adjourned by R. L. Maitland, K.C. (Cons.-Point Grey); after the want-of-confidence move had been sponsored by Mrs. R. P. Steeves (C.C.F.-North Vancouver), and seconded by E. E. Winch (C.C.F.-Burnaby), who, between them, grilled government benches for an hour.

The motion was called for debate by Premier Pattullo, who was leading the House at the time. Its substantive part asked the House to declare "that this Legislature is of the opinion that the Government has forfeited the confidence of the people in neglecting to put the Health Insurance Act into operation."

DELAY DECRIED

The public had been told, said Mrs. Steeves, that if the plebiscite passed with a majority of the people, there would be no delay in implementing the scheme. The plebiscite had carried with a larger majority than the administration itself received; but nothing had been done. The responsible Minister in charge continued to sit in the counsels of the Cabinet.

Failure to act was a betrayal of faith, Mrs. Steeves declared. She was not asking that the Act as it stood be enforced, she continued, but the Government should take the people into its confidence with respect to conferences now going on, and revise its declaration that nothing would be done until after the report of the Rowell Commission.

E. E. Winch, seconding the resolution, said the administration had given a definite undertaking that it would proceed with a comprehensive plan of health insurance, progressively applied. The legislation was already on the statute books, and could not be set aside.

Mr. Maitland adjourned debate on the want-of-confidence resolution, after the Opposition had made it clear it proposes to call for a division on the issue, to place every member of the House on record.

Hon. A. W. Gray introduced for first reading minor amendments to the British Columbia Land Act, which will be explained on second reading. The House rose after 6 p.m., until 2:30 p.m. today.

number of other serious problems still remained to be solved. They listed some of these as follows:

SPANISH VIEWPOINT

1. Neither Government nor insurgent Spain has yet stated whether it would accept, and cooperate toward installation of, the repatriation plan.

2. The non-intervention powers have not yet agreed on the extent of the belligerency rights to be granted, nor the ways and means of applying them.

3. No agreement has yet been reached on re-establishment of neutrality supervision, which Soviet Russia insists should include an international naval patrol—a project branded as ineffectual, in the light of past experience, by a report by committee experts.

with the two Spanish factions would satisfactorily fulfill the meaning of the word "substantial."

If this stand is carried into the London committee's deliberations, a new deadlock was predicted as Germany, Italy and Portugal will undoubtedly oppose the 70 per cent requirement as too high.

CHURCH HAS BIG SUMMONS

Many Gather at Memorial Hall for Bishop's "Call to Action"

Addresses eloquently challenging the Church to renewed evangelical effort were heard at the meeting held at Memorial Hall last evening in connection with the movement just initiated under the title of "The Bishop's Call to Action."

Summoned by Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, the meeting was one of the most representative of the diocese since he took office, either clerical or lay delegates being present from the majority of the thirty-five parishes of the diocese.

From one of the remotest districts, Alert Bay, came F. E. Anfield, principal of St. Michael's Indian School, who supplied one of the highly interesting parts of the programme by giving some moving pictures, in color, of the activities of the boys and girls.

COMMEMORATE PIONEER

The programme also included reports by George Carter, Rev. Alan Gardiner, of St. Matthias, and Mr. Anfield, of different phases of the fourteenth session of the General Synod of the Church of England, at which they were present as delegates from this diocese. The meetings, which took place in late August and early September, were held in Halifax, in celebration of the 150th anniversary of the consecration there of Bishop Inglis, who was the first Canadian Bishop, the first Protestant Bishop on the North American Continent, and the first Bishop of the Anglican Church in any part of the Empire outside Great Britain. All three speakers paid tribute to the memory of this great pioneer, whose great missionary zeal, together with that of some of his early successors in the church, should not only not be forgotten, but should be emulated in the spirit of the church today.

Bishop Sexton followed these addresses with his own personal "Call to Action." The meeting had been arranged, he said, as part and parcel of the great Forward Movement initiated in this diocese by the late Bishop Schofield. The church, he said, was under challenge. The time had come for real active service, not only on the part of the clergy, but by the laity of the diocese as well.

SOME LAGGING

Only in a few parishes in the diocese was the church both aggressive and progressive. There was a tendency to give too much attention to organization and not enough to spiritual action, said the bishop.

An announcement of interest, arising from the several conferences made by the delegates who met him at the General Synod at Halifax, was Bishop Tsen, of Honan, would stop in Victoria on his way back to China, and would give an address at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, on Wednesday, November 24, at 8 p.m.

Bishop Sexton also announced that the Diocese of Columbia was to have a diocesan missionary in the not distant future. He was not yet, however, in a position to give fuller details.

Mr. Anfield's pictures of the Alert Bay School were followed by a stirring appeal for evangelical action. No one who was at Halifax this year but must have felt the missionary challenge to the church. Mr. Gardiner's address was a very fine summary of the challenging address made at Halifax by Bishop Bardsley, Bishop of Leicester.

COMMISSION'S COSTS STATED

Provincial Outlays Under B.C. Health Insurance Act Now at $95,811

British Columbia costs under the Health Insurance Act of 1936, now inoperative, are $2,400 monthly, the Government has replied to questions in the Legislature. A commission of four and a staff of four are still employed, and $95,811 has been expended under the statute since its inception.

The chairman of the commission has been paid $8,726 to date; the vice-chairman $7,984; one commissioner $1,416 and a fourth commissioner $1,166 since appointment in 1936. The staff is employed at salaries ranging from $225 to $75 per month. On January 1 next year the monthly cost of the commission will decline by $300. At one time seventy-six persons were employed.

OTHER REPLIES

In April and May of this year the Province spent $6,432 for advertising in newspapers, distributed about the province as a whole, it is said in reply to another question.

Beer sales by the Province went up this year. In May they were $519,446; June $576,546; July $629,504, and in August $549,778.

During the first nine months of this year 9,642 accidents were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board by the lumbering industry, of which fifty-three accidents were fatal to those concerned. Provision of $81,237 was made with respect to fourteen accidents and $11,441 with respect to others, with the balance not yet finally adjusted. There was no disproportionate evidence of neglect on the part of any firm.

Returns of automobiles in provincial departments, British Columbia holdings of Alberta bonds and on other points have also been made.

Starting tomorrow, the House may go into night sittings, according to the customary motion made by the Government. It is expected, however, that the budget debate will first be wound up.

ON WAY TO WEDDING

The news overwhelmed Prince Ludwig von Hesse Bei Rhein, who was waiting at Croydon Airfield, in London, to welcome his mother, brother and members of his brother's family as his wedding guests.

The swift succession of deaths in the sixteenth century family created three Grand Dukes Hesse Rhein in a month. George, who was killed today, succeeded to the title on the death of his father, Ludwig, twenty-nine, now becomes the Grand Duke.

The English girl he was to wed quietly, possibly tomorrow, will become the Grand Duchess. She is Miss Margaret Campbell Geddes, daughter of Sir Auckland Geddes, former British ambassador to the United States and former principal of McGill University, Montreal. The wedding already has been postponed once, because of the death of Ludwig's father a week ago.

ONLY MALE MEMBER LEFT

The tragedy which left Ludwig the only surviving male member of his branch of the family, also cast a pall about Buckingham Palace, where King Leopold of Belgium was a guest at a state banquet of King George VI.

Ludwig was treated at Croydon and taken to the home of Lord Louis and Lady Mountbatten, relatives of King George.

The Grand Duke's wedding party boarded the plane at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany. The liner did not make a scheduled stop at Brussels because of the fog, continuing fifty miles to Ostend, on the North Sea.

Eye-witnesses said the plane struck a chimney in attempting to land at Steene Airport, on the outskirts of Ostend. One wing was torn off and the crippled ship crashed 300 yards away with a violent explosion, followed by flames.

Visibility was only 250 yards, and there was a ceiling of only 160 feet when the crash occurred.

A GRAVE POSSIBILITY

Although something apart from and alien to the purpose of an Imperial Conference, the question of an Anglo-American trade agreement was discussed at the gathering of Empire representatives in London this year. Mr. Mackenzie King, representing Canada, made his contribution to the subject following a visit that he paid to President Roosevelt, of the United States. Dispatches at the time the Conference was in session were to the effect that Mr. King expressed willingness to sacrifice some of the benefits of the Ottawa Agreement in order that Great Britain might engage in a reciprocal arrangement for trade development with the United States. The other representatives of the Overseas Empire strongly opposed any such sacrifice. They were interested primarily in trade development with the Empire, and because of their attitude the subject was dropped for the time being.

Apparently the matter is again becoming one of practical politics. It is being discussed at Ottawa, where the official opinion is that the United Kingdom can enter into a commercial arrangement "satisfactory to the United States," provided that the British Dominions, and chiefly Canada, are willing to pay the piper by relinquishing some of the intra-Empire trade privileges they now enjoy. Seemingly Mr. Mackenzie King is willing these sacrifices should be made, and if they were there would be a substantial giving up of benefits ensuing from the Ottawa Agreements which did so much to give this Dominion a favorable trade balance. Mr. King, during his election campaign, hinted at the likelihood of amendments to the Ottawa Agreements, and obviously what he had in view was doing something for the United States. That, then, may be taken as one of the policies of the Liberal Government. It is a retrograde policy so far as the development of intra-Empire trade is concerned. Of it The Montreal Gazette says:

"Mr. Mackenzie King, no doubt, is attracted by the thought that by surrendering some of his bound margins in Great Britain he may be manoeuvring the United States a little nearer to the position in world affairs which the Republic ought to occupy. His difficulty will be in persuading the primary producers and others in this country to see eye to eye with him. It is these producers who will have to do the paying, and they have already shown that the prospect is extremely distasteful. Mr. King is an idealist, and as such the notion of contributing to the world's peace appeals to him, no doubt, with considerable force. He is also a practical politician and endowed with an acute, and sometimes an uncanny, sense of political values. He will probably do a great deal of hard thinking before he makes up his mind to surrender the substance for the shadow. Even in its present rather nebulous stage the United Kingdom-United States trade project has engendered active opposition in various parts of the Dominion. The Prairie Provinces do not like it, nor does British Columbia, and the Maritimes are decidedly against it. Nor has the ire of the primary producer in half a dozen Canadian Provinces been appeased by the suggestion that the reciprocity agreement with the United States may be revised upon a basis more favorable to the Dominion. This is another instance in which the choice is between the shadow and the substance, apart altogether from the fact that the Canadian producer and exporter is inclined to depend with a much greater degree of confidence upon trade agreements with the United Kingdom than upon trade agreements with the United States. On the whole, it seems likely that Mr. King, the idealist, will be seriously hampered by the presence of Mr. King, the politician, plucking insistently at his elbow."

AN UNEMPLOYMENT DOLE

The proposal to institute the dole for unemployment in Canada was first made by Mr. R. B. Bennett, and, in fact, legislation to this effect was passed at Ottawa. Subsequently it was found that unemployment insurance, under the terms of the British North America Act, is a provincial preoccupation. The present Government at Ottawa believes in the dole as a panacea for unemployment and as a more self-respecting policy than direct relief and relief through public works, so it is asking the Provinces for their sanction to the amendment of the British North America Act so as to make this form of unemployment insurance a Federal matter. If the amendment is approved by those Provinces, the Federal Government promises to enact legislation for the dole. It will thus have borrowed, adopted and made constitutional a policy which the late Conservative Government sought to put into effect. It will, moreover, have recognized unemployment as a permanent problem.

Sanction by the Provinces to the proposed amendment to the B.N.A. Act will be followed by an address to the Imperial Parliament, and the necessary change will be made automatically. The institution of unemployment insurance, or the dole, as it has become known colloquially in Great Britain, may or may not lead to nationally-approved results. It is, of course, a complete delusion that such legislation will solve the unemployment problem. Mr. H. W. Macdonnell, Secretary of the Industrial Relations Department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, points out that leading insurance authorities have discovered that any unemployment insurance will provide only for "a strictly limited section of the unemployed for a strictly limited period." The reasons are explained as follows: "the rate of recurrence of unemployment is not predictable within reasonable limits; an unduly large proportion of the insured group may be unemployed at one time; insurance eligibility in individual cases is difficult to determine."

Apart from whatever sum may be derived from industry for the operation of the dole, there will be a heavy toll levied on the taxpayers as well. The Montreal Gazette points out that in England there is approximately one official for every 100 unemployed, and that the cost of administration of the dole is from 11.6 to 13.2 per cent of the net income of the unemployment insurance fund. The same paper says that under the revised scheme in England the benefits are conditional on contributions, and where none has been made, or the right to benefits has expired, there are Parliamentary grants and expenditures by local authorities. Mr. Macdonnell explains that "if an unemployment scheme is launched in Canada without any definite provision in the way of relief or assistance being made for the large number of unemployed who would not be entitled to benefit under the insurance scheme, there is every reason to fear that Canadian experience will be the same as British experience."

In Great Britain the dole system was launched in 1911. It provided originally for contributions by employees, employers and the State in equal amounts. For the year ending March, 1931, the total cost was $493,000,000. Of this the employers contributed 15.6 per cent, the employees 13.6 per cent and the State 70.8 per cent. It was found necessary to amend the legislation to restore it to an actuarial basis. It is true that the lesson in Great Britain may be applied to any legislation devised for this country. The fact is, however, that the dole, while levying a new and possibly varying tax on industry, will also mean heavier taxation on the people as a whole for the support of the new army of officialdom that administration of the dole will require.

BROADCASTING TASTES

In Great Britain there is to be a house-to-house canvass to ascertain what radio listeners want in the way of programmes from the British Broadcasting Corporation. The idea is one that should commend itself to this country, where there is also a State-controlled broadcasting system. Of course, the answer will be in the main that what is wanted is entertainment. At present the British system does not meet in every way with public approval, and it is because of this that there is to be an effort to ascertain what public opinion is.

There are many desires respecting broadcasting, but the majority want something light, perhaps interspersed occasionally with something educational. There is a general desire, however, for entertainment every day, not only occasionally. The London Daily Mail, which to a great extent voices the opinion of the masses, even if the more unthinking section of the populace, says: "To try every British transmitter and hear from each a dismal bleating as of a bored schoolmaster lecturing an inattentive class is a deadly, and not infrequent, experience. That, the Corporation's sleuths will discover, is what the public does not want."

Here in Canada there is still much to be done before the stations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation are listened to in preference to those on the American side. An improvement has taken place, but as yet there has been little or no attempt to discover what the people want. A questionnaire might lead to some beneficial results. There are now weak links in the national broadcast which should be eliminated and replaced by others with a wider appeal. The country may be handicapped in the way of talent, but there are ways and means to amend the weaknesses and replace such programmes as have only a local appeal and which are distinctly of no national interest. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation might well follow the example of Great Britain and endeavor to find out exactly what the people want. It would be a worth-while experiment, for otherwise any system of State broadcasting continues, to some extent, to grope in the dark.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

There is one man I want to meet before I grow much older, and that is the Man-that-passes-me. Not a day goes by but what the Man-that-passes-me rushes towards me on the street—wearing my coat, wearing my hat, walking confound him, like I do—and yet he never stops to speak. I catch sight of him in the store windows, two premises ahead; walking fast toward me, as if he and I had a date. We have, but, somehow, I never seem to be able to keep it. Again, he flits by the backs of windows, obviously rushing past a mirror, so that I cannot see him well. Once, when the sidewalk was wet, I saw him staring up at me from the pavement, with a leer. He had his hat pulled down, his coat-collar turned up, and he walked on the heels of his shoes, fast with arms swinging. Another time I almost caught up with him in a revolving door. There he was plain as day, going through the other side of the door, across from me. I put my hand on the panel, and he put his hand on the other panel, the copycat! I pushed the door, and he pushed the door. I turned around fast, to see his back, but, shucks, he was gone again. Never mind; some day I will meet up with the Man-that-passes-me. I will pretend to step into a doorway, and then halt suddenly and meet him coming out. Dozens of times I have tried it in vain, but one day he will be caught off guard, and I will run full tilt into him. Let him, then, beware. No fellow can wear my hat, my coat, and walk like me, and get away with it forever. Who does he think he is, that Man-who-passes-me?

Women think fast at peak moments of their lives. Time and again news reports show it. Take the hold-up in a family home down East the other day, for instance. There were a real estate broker and his wife, their son and his wife; four sitting down to a quiet meal at table. It was a bit of an anniversary, or something, for the two women wore their jewelry; $14,000 worth of it, in all. Two young men with revolvers sneaked into the home, crept up the stairs to the dining-room, and gave the traditional order to "stick them up." For a time, the family thought the affair was a practical joke by neighbors. The wavering guns, and the tension of the young men soon convinced them of their error. Their hands went up, and stayed up. The gunmen made a round of the table, taking rings, bracelets, purses, and anything else of value; and then they left, on the run. Yet, in the middle of the hold-up the younger woman found time to slip off a $6,000 ring under the table, and kick it under the carpet. That was thinking fast in the face of an emergency!

This column has mentioned before what an attraction a planetarium would be for Victoria, or for any other town for that matter. Here, taken from a description of a new planetarium at Springfield printed in The New York Times of recent issue, is an excellent explanation of what a planetarium will do: The firmament can be shown as it appeared 25,000 years ago, and as it will appear 25,000 years hence. Moreover, observers can be transported, astronomically speaking, to any part of the earth, so they can see constellations and stars as Eskimos and others see them. The projector, eventually, will show comets, eclipses, the galaxy, and new stars. As in all planetaria, the local skyline appears on the horizon of the dome. Observers see silhouettes of familiar buildings, pieced together from panoramic photographs. On this artificial horizon is created the illusion of a waning day. The sun sinks slowly into the deep blue sky of an afternoon. Sunset illumines the west. Night falls. The first bright stars come out. Other stars appear, until at last more than 7,000 stars, about the number that can be seen with the naked eye, can be discerned in the dome of the planetarium. In the case of Springfield, the planetarium was created at the museum of natural history, using an ingenious device made by two brothers at a cost of $12,000, compared with sums ten times as great for large planetaria at other points about the world. The point is, Springfield wanted a planetarium, and its opportunity came. Now it has one. So have New York, Los Angeles and Philadelphia, on this continent, and some of the larger cities in the Old World.

If you were to follow some commercial products back to their points of origin, you might get a surprise. For instance, there is the Brazil nut, a favorite at festive and other seasons. In a recent exhibition on this continent, the distributors of Brazil nuts showed something of the business of gathering this harvest from a vast area of 1,500,000 square miles, south of the Equator, and 2,500 miles inland from the Atlantic Ocean. Indians with blow-guns and foot-long poison darts, with six-foot bows, and crude wooden dugouts, help to gather the nuts which eventually reach domestic tables from city stores. A more colorful story still could be told of the production of many of the articles we accept as commonplace in our stores and homes. Gums for paint manufacture, whale oil for a host of different purposes, and the like, would transport you far beyond the frontier fringes of civilization, if you followed such articles to their original source. Had you all the evidence before you, it would suggest that the world is not civilized yet; and that many whole peoples are living in an age we thought was buried hundreds of years ago.

Peace at Any Price

In several offices we know of bad-tempered, grouchy persons occupying quite ordinary positions. They seldom smile and appear to find little or no enjoyment in life. Yet in most cases these sour individuals are literally handled with kid gloves and practically pampered by other members of the staff. Some seem to get away with everything short of murder. In the final analysis we suppose it is better to preserve peace at any price rather than be subjected to the caustic drippings of a vitriolic tongue. Is it not so? . . . In the same fashion, many a big, strong man with a nagging wife gives in to his spouse to preserve tranquility at home when he arrives from the office or shop tired out from the day's toil . . . Not long ago our tobacconist friend's brother asked him why he did not wash and polish his venerable automobile. Swiftly came the reply: "Because the dirt is all that holds it together."—G.B.

Sailors' Reunion

I am still smarting over the look of disgust that crossed the face of Roy Durhack, owner-skipper of the thirty-five-foot yawl Teal, when he dropped into this office the other night to renew an acquaintance begun in Honolulu, and found that I had abandoned sea boots and muffler for street shoes, and the conventional collar and tie, which is the badge of the city dweller. There was something in the nature of a sailors' reunion here that night, for Roy brought up with him his mate on the Teal, and George Dibbern, owner of the ketch Te Rapunga, in which I shipped as mate for two years. Last time we met was in Honolulu, in July, just before the two boats sailed for the Pacific Coast, Teal to reach Port Angeles and Te Rapunga Victoria, within a few days of one another. Incidentally both boats made the passage from port to port in the same time, thirty-one days.—R.M.

They'll Do Well

Victoria's best free-style artist since the days of Audrey Griffin, Hazel Smith, young dark-haired mermaid of Coach Archie McKinnon's Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club, is given an excellent chance of gaining a berth on Canada's Empire Games' swimming team to visit Australia this year. Certainly the class of local mermaids, this comely young lady will carry the best wishes of every Victoria follower of the aquatic game when she competes in the trials at Vancouver next month. Another Victoria mermaid who really figures to catch a place on the Maple Leaf squad is Monica Trump, breast-stroke star. Monica is an expert in her own style of swimming and will make a good showing at the trials at Vancouver and probably make the team. —S.T.

Glancing Over Sport

So John Montague, golf's mysterious personage, came out in the open for the first time Sunday in New York and tried to play an exhibition charity match with Sylva Annenberg against the two famous "Babes," Ruth and Didrikson, but 10,000 uncontrolled spectators spoiled the whole show. The match ended at the ninth, when golf's craziest gallery would no longer let the players continue. There wasn't enough room to accommodate the mob, as the fairways and greens were crammed with humanity. Practically every shot hit somebody before it finally landed, and the putting was a sort of a family circle, the nearest spectators leaning over to watch the ball drop. I know what 10,000 crazy golf fans are like, for I saw close to that many watch Johnny Goodman win the U.S. national crown at Portland. It was bad enough at Portland, where the mob was under control, so I have a vivid idea of what a like number of stampeding humans would act like without any police to supervise matters. One sports writer, in describing Monty's approach shots, said: His approach shots, while sound in some respects, are inclined to wander off line if there are more than 3,000 persons between him and the flag, all of them shouting, "Down in front before I bust you one!" The huge gallery carried off the real honors when they finally converged on the ninth green and pocketed the balls . . . Word has leaked out that Albert "Red" Martin is going to soon join the House of David basketball team in Chicago. This means that lanky "Red" will have to let the old beard grow for several days, if not weeks.—J.D.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of November 17, 1887)

Government Surveys—An Ottawa dispatch says that the various surveys throughout the Northwest Territories and British Columbia are about concluded for this year. The season's work will be nearly as great as that accomplished last year, but does not approach in magnitude the operations of five or six years ago. The leading feature of the work was the astronomical observations with the object of determining the exact geographical position of points along the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Customs House Changes—In an interview the other day, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, stated that important changes will shortly take place in the customs house staffs throughout the country. Many of the officers who have grown old in honorable service are to be superannuated; others will be promoted to the vacant positions, and new appointments will be made in some of the lower offices in Toronto; superannuations and some promotions will take place, but few appointments will be made. It is expected that a large saving will be made in many quarters, $2,500 per annum being the sum mentioned for Toronto.

Thanksgiving Concert—A grand thanksgiving concert will be given in Pandora Street Methodist Church this evening. The church will be decorated with fruits and flowers, and a good time is assured. All are invited to attend and enjoy the very excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music which has been prepared.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

DOG SHOW RESULTS

Sir,—Will you be good enough to publish the following correction. In the list of awards at the V.C.K. Club Show, held on Saturday, smooth fox terriers should read: Winner's bitch, Mrs. M. Constantine's Tenacity; best of winners and best of breed, Mrs. M. Constantine's Tenacity. The name of Vivacity (also owned by Mrs. Constantine), was given in error. Under the same heading should have appeared: Winners dogs, Mrs. M. Constantine's Ch. Coats Cle.

STREET CARS OR BUSES

Sir,—Re street cars, or trolley buses, or trolleyless buses for Victoria, and plebiscite proposed:

1. To scrap everything pertaining to our street car system has many ramifications.

2. It is plain that the maintenance of, say, one-third of the streets covered by street cars by the B.C. Electric is a considerable relief to the city.

3. Taxes paid by the B.C. Electric on all their holdings, incident to street cars, poles, wires, etc., are a large amount of money.

4. Modernized street cars and railways afford the safest, most comfortable, cheapest mode of travel.

5. Buffalo, New York State, U.S.A., I believe, has both street cars and buses, the latter where tram installation is not justified. Inquiry should be made there.

6. Buses would increase the number of vehicles in use—already too many—at times in business centre.

7. A trolley trackless system necessitates poles and wires as now, as do our light and telephone systems.

8. A declining population like ours means concentration of taxes on less contributors, accentuated by remaining owners dropping unneeded vacant property.

9. Whilst resort to buses might result in a few more employees, there would be almost, if not quite, as many street car employees discarded.

10. A plebiscite is not in the interest of ratepayers because the irresponsibles do not weigh the cost, and if the proposal for buses was put and carried it would mislead and prejudice the ratepayers' interest. The whole subject is of sufficient importance to justify a ratepayers' referendum.

11. A kept, up-to-date, modernized street car system should be insisted on, for what the B.C. Electric may lose (if anything on street car system) it would, no doubt, more than make up on light, power and gas.

Exemplifying the desirability of a Greater Victoria municipality, the other three municipalities should at least express their views on transportation, particularly Esquimalt (the five beer parlor Cinderella), where steadiness of motion is important for beer-holders.

On May 4, 1937, Los Angeles overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to substitute buses for street cars. Particulars were sent to the press and City Council here.

THE DIVINE PLAN

Sir,—It is very gratifying to know that the Community Chest Campaign has reached its objective, and beyond, but I cannot help thinking how much better it would be if the same interest and zeal were given to reaching a far greater objective, not only alleviating distress but getting at the root cause and removing it. Are we to go on forever content to hand out our donations for the alleviation of present conditions? Why not go further and find out why we have these conditions, and try to alter them?

Is it not an amazing fact that after nearly 2,000 years of Christianity we have such misery, sickness and distress in our midst, and yet Christ said, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of Heaven and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." It is self-evident that we have not got righteousness, for Christ's words still ring true, and we should, and could, have all things added unto us if we would only do His will. Again He says, "I came that ye might have life and have it more abundantly." Again it is evident that the abundant life does not exist throughout the nation, whilst we have need of Community Chests, etc., and whilst we have such chaos throughout the world.

Christ taught the Gospel of the Kingdom, a material kingdom here on earth, which provides for every man materially as well as spiritually. There is a Divine Plan given to the nation Israel, which if taught and followed today would do away with all sickness and poverty, and by which every man should live under his own "vine and fig tree," and "none make him afraid."

Righteousness is not only believing in Christ, but doing His will, which means keeping the laws, statutes and judgements, the breaking of which has brought the nation to where it is today. Deut. xxviii.

Having tried every man-made scheme for the relief of existing conditions without avail, is it not time we tried God's Plan. "Return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the Lord." (Mal. iii, 7.) Only by allegiance to Christ and to the principles of the Kingdom can we hope to bring about a nation cleansed and healed, and everlasting peace.

DOROTHY E. ABRAHAM.

STREET CARS OR BUSES

Sir,—A public expression of opinion will be of no value unless fully aware of all the B.C. Electric franchise entails; what obligations, if any, exist between the company and the city at the end of the present franchise, and whether it covers all of the B.C. Electric services (light, power and gas, as well as car service).

This means that the public be given the full text of the franchise in both The Colonist and The Times.

"Corporations have no soul." The company will use every available influence, including clever legal services, to obtain the most favorable terms for the company. It behooves the citizens to see and insure that these services for the future are the best that can be had for public welfare and economy.

Will we be free to choose between a new monopoly, a partial monopoly, or open competition?

It is proverbial that in public franchises, big corporations, "by hook or by crook," including watered stock, "put it over" on the profit side, municipality and citizens paying the piper. A. J. MORLEY.

SAANICH'S WATER SUPPLY

Sir,—One never thought the proposal for Saanich Municipality to develop a public water system from wells would ever take serious form, but it seems money is already being spent upon it, so ratepayers should speak out their thoughts now or forever hold their peace.

The old adage "taking coals to Newcastle" is not in it with our letting the plentiful rainfall run useless to the ocean, while we pump up from the depths the brackish, perhaps goitrous, water which we must use the year round. It is bringing the drought water systems of the Prairies to the ocean wastes of the Pacific. This wonderful discovery of the most expensive way to get a fresh water supply under Winter clouds of plenty pouring upon us more than we can use, must be the result of some acquired kink in some famine-acclimatized brain.

To make sure of water perhaps the first well should be sunk in the middle of Lost Lake, or on the shores of Elk Lake, and thus relieve Saanich of that very troublesome problem of Winter floods from those areas, with lakes and courses swollen beyond control.

This question of water from Victoria City is one that should not be influenced by personal animosity or human feelings as between councillors. Even the higher rate which Victoria threatens to charge will in the end be far cheaper for Saanich, while the city itself is serious enough example of the folly of rearing "white elephants."

But having agreed to the new water rate Saanich Municipal Council should immediately protest to the Provincial Government and demand our share of the yearly rainfall, in comparison to the expanse of Saanich acreage, both North and South, in which the British Columbia Government itself becomes an interested party.

We should not let Victoria get away with this attitude of profiteering with the people's water supply, for it is lowering the standard of our rights to force our people to use well water when there is more than enough from Sooke Lake, which was a concession given by the representatives of the people to supply the needs of the people as a whole, not merely a privileged minority who laid the supply pipes.

The people of Saanich should demand that the details of the deeds of Sooke Lake water concession should be published so that we may know if our rights have been safeguarded in power and water and the limits of Victoria City over the water question defined. The public wants to know. JAMES MOYES.

What Would Happen In Your Case?

One of our policyholders told us this story the other day. He said that he had dreamed that he was his own executor, and as such he found that instead of leaving his family in the comfortable circumstances that he thought he had, he discovered that eight different creditors had prior claims against his estate before his wife and children could receive a dollar.

First came the Succession Duties Department, putting its seal and exacting a tax on every asset that he died possessed of. Then came Inspectors from the Income Tax Department; next, doctors, nurses, hospital and undertaker's bills. Then when the lawyers inserted the regular legal notice to creditors in the daily press, certain current bills came in, all representing prior claims against his estate.

The result was that before he could distribute a dollar to his wife and children, the estate had shrunk to alarming proportions.

The policyholder was a conscientious man, and when he realized that his dream was an actual picture of his affairs, he got in touch with the Confederation Life Association and bought additional insurance. It was on that occasion that he related this story to our representative.

Why not figure up now just what your wife and children would have in case they were deprived of your guidance and counsel? The Confederation Life Association would welcome an opportunity of serving you by furnishing information of a definite nature which may enable you to study your requirements more carefully.

WANTS CITY TO SUCCEED

R. W. Mayhew, Liberal By-Election Candidate, Supports Trade Expansion

"I am not going to make you any promises. As a politician I would; but I am not a politician. I am a businessman, and I am going to apply the principles that I learned in the school of hard knocks, to try to get for Victoria what the city deserves," said R. H. Mayhew, Liberal candidate for the Federal by-election, in an address to about 100 Ward Five electors at Liberal headquarters last night.

The candidate declared that he wanted to see Victoria succeed, for there was no strength in the whole structure if one part of it was weak, and the Province must be strong to stand its share in a united Canada and Empire. "We are out to do the best we can for our own place, though it is not necessary to trample anyone down or use dishonest means," he said.

TRADE EXPANSION

By supporting him, Mr. Mayhew pointed out, the voters would endorse the Liberal Government's policy of trade agreements and trade expansion, which was creating employment and giving encouragement to the people all along the line. The present government had achieved astonishing results by the expansion of trade, which was the key to prosperity.

"The Liberal Government has done exactly the same as I would advocate to anyone in business; that is, be on the aggressive all the time," Mr. Mayhew continued. He dealt also with the Dominion Government's home loan and housing plans, and defence policy, declaring that it behooved Canada to build her own defences to protect her shores and trade routes.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

The candidate stated that the thing that interested him most was the problem of unemployment, and asserted that there was any amount of work to be done in Canada, and plenty of men to do it. The problem was of linking the two together. He heartily endorsed the unemployment insurance proposal, and spoke of his plan to promote a scheme of pensions for all wage earners.

Mr. Mayhew's integrity and sound business principles and administrative ability were referred to by G. A. A. Hebden, who stated that Victoria had been in the Opposition benches long enough, and the opportunity had now come for the community to get into step with Ottawa.

The present campaign was now becoming fairly well clarified, H. W. Davey stated. The C.C.F. speakers were emphasizing that they placed human values and rights above property rights, and he objected to their claiming that as a policy peculiar to the C.C.F. The Liberal party had always stood for human rights and values, whereas the Conservative party, he stated, had placed property rights foremost.

"The C.C.F. are relying on impractical and visionary men to put forward untried schemes," Mr. Davey declared. "The Liberal party is relying on statesmen who prove each step of every scheme. The Liberal party knows that wild and impractical schemes will not serve the country. We need a sound economic policy, giving full scope for employment."

Mr. Mayhew knew the problems of the working men and would take that knowledge with him to Ottawa, Mr. Davey continued. He new also that it was of paramount importance to maintain sound economical conditions.

Ald. John Worthington presided, and a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Mayhew, on the motion of G. A. Dyson, seconded by R. Jenkins. The meeting closed with cheers for the candidate.

ISLAND ROADS DRAW COMMENT

Alberta Highways, During Rainy Season, Are Said To Be Worse

Many tourists from California think a lot of Vancouver Island roads are not up to the standard of the highways south of the international border. But one Alameda resident, answering a questionnaire sent out by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, suggests that if Vancouver Islanders think their roads are poor, they should "try Alberta in the rainy season."

While a San Franciscan reiterates "better roads are needed," a Berkeley Summer visitor thinks they are "just right," since they prevent speeding.

Other visitors thing Victoria not gay enough, and suggest dancing be allowed until 1 o'clock Sunday morning. A cross-section of other replies reveals the following information:

LIKED FERRY TRIP

"We enjoyed the Nanaimo-Vancouver trip. The colorings of mountains, sea and sky were most impressive."

"It cost us $15 to have the road oil removed from our car."

"We stayed ten days on Vancouver Island, and spent $200."

"Your ferry charges are too high for the traveling public."

"We found the guide sheets more confusing than helpful."

"The closing of stores on a Wednesday should be advertised for the convenience of visitors."

"Why not oil your roads in Spring?"

"Your drivers do not realize a left-hand turn should be made from the inside lane, and a right-hand turn from the curb lane. This rule is of great importance here," writes an Alhambra man.

COURTESY APPRECIATED

The courtesy of Victorians is remarked upon by several. One visitor comments: "From the bootblack to the banker, we have never met so courteous a people."

Other things that impressed tourists were the Scottish girls playing the bagpipes, the Old World atmosphere, and the fishing. "The fishing at Brentwood Bay was poor. It was poor at Oyster Bay. But it was good at Campbell River," writes a man who admits he spent $400 on the Island during the Summer months.

TRAIL HUNTER DIES IN WILDS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (C.P.)—The body of one man was found today, while searchers continued efforts to locate two other men, all reported missing over the week-end in widely-separated parts of British Columbia.

At Trail, in the Southern Interior, British Columbia Police recovered the body of I. E. Brinson, a hunter, who, they said, had died from exposure after being lost for nearly three days.

Searchers at Haney, thirty miles east of Vancouver on the north shore of the Fraser River, tonight returned after an unsuccessful attempt to find J. T. Wilson, forty-five, who had not been seen since Sunday, when he left for a short hunting trip. One hundred men will resume the search tomorrow.

The other missing man was Takishi Tauida, Japanese fisherman, unreported since he left Britannia Beach on Saturday in his fishing boat, en route to Vancouver.

An airplane, piloted by Charles Elliot, late today flew over Howe Sound, but returned without finding any trace of the missing fisherman.

PIONEERED IN WEST COUNTRY

Late Resident of Victoria Crossed Prairies in Red River Cart

(Contributed)

An early resident of the prairie country passed away in Victoria several days ago. Mrs. G. E. Grogan was born in Montreal, and when quite a young girl traveled with her parents to Winnipeg, going by water to Duluth, train to St. Paul, a short overland journey to Fargo and then by river to the Winnipeg of 1874. Winnipeg was then a collection of indifferent structures, set along very wide streets, which were very muddy in wet weather.

The late Mrs. Grogan's father was a restless personage. He was Felix Tasscher de la Pagerie, son of a first cousin of the Empress Josephine. Entering the French army as a youngster, he was serving in Tahiti when the discovery of gold in California focussed the eyes of the world on that section of America. He was seized with the gold fever, and obtaining his release from the army, being practical as well as gold-feverish, in company with a brother officer he charted a small sailing vessel and took a cargo of oranges to the scene of the gold excitement.

The young officers did well out of the orange venture, but the search for gold was not so remunerative. After varying experiences in California, he hearkened to the call of the Cariboo country and came to British Columbia. He had about the same luck as he had in California, remaining in British Columbia but a short time. Making his way east to the Atlantic coast by way of Panama, he went to Montreal, where he engaged in the hotel business and married.

LURED BY GOLD

Leaving Montreal for Winnipeg, he continued as an hotelman there until 1881, when news of gold discoveries in the Saskatchewan near Fort Edmonton proved too strong a magnet to resist. He set out with his family across country in Red River carts, a journey which Mrs. Grogan never tired of telling about. It was in the Summer time, when the Prairies were at their best, and it was a wonder trip for the young girl. She often recalled in later years the meeting of her father's party with the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General of Canada, on his memorable trip through the Northwest with an escort of Mounted Police; and of seeing Frank Oliver, who happened to be returning to Edmonton with his bride to establish The Edmonton Journal, the buckboard in which the married couple was driving containing in addition to clothing, a quantity of type for the paper.

Gold in the Saskatchewan proved of little economic value, and what there was was most elusive. So Monsieur Pagerie, who by that time had dropped the Tasscher and kept the name of the Normandy town from whence his people came, became a rancher near Fort Saskatchewan. When Edmonton commenced to grow, he again vetured into the hotel business; while before and following the rebellion his family kept open house on the road between the forts, where they were great favorites with officers and men of Northwest Mounted Police, one of whom Kathleen Paggerie, the late Mrs. Grogan, married, later removing to Victoria to reside.

after a last-minute conference with Foreign Secretary Eden. He and Hitler will hold "informal" conversations on colonies, changes for European security arrangements, the Rome-Berlin axis and other questions. Informed quarters emphasized his mission was "exploratory."

SPECIAL INTEREST

King Leopold is especially interested in Germany's colonial claims because Belgium has a mandate for Ruanda-Urundi, a densely-populated section which formerly was a part of Tanganyika in German East Africa. Before the war Germany planned to use this as a labor reservoir for colonies she later lost.

The Belgian ruler also needs a lasting friendship with Great Britain, France and Germany to bolster the foreign and military policy he himself has defined as "barring war from our territory."

STATE DINNER

Mr. Eden, who was forced to go back to bed with influenza after conferring with Lord Halifax, was one of the few notables absent from the uniformed, bejewelled throng

Miss Laurie told how the present Oriental Home had been established from small beginnings, and something of the work accomplished, relating several stories of Japanese and Chinese girls who had gone out from the home to train as nurses and missionaries, afterwards returning to their own countries, where they were doing very fine work. Many also had gone out to establish Christian homes of their own in Victoria, Vancouver, and across the Pacific.

CARELESS

Chemist—What's the matter with you? You seem excited.

Assistant—Heavens! I sold Mrs. Smiley strychnine instead of potash.

Chemist—Well, if you aren't the most careless idiot I ever saw. You seem to have no idea of the value of strychnine.

Charity Store Gets Windfall

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (Reuters).—Fortune smiled on the Thrift House, a shop which sells cast-off property for charity, when an incoming bundle was found to contain an early etching by Whistler. Sorting the bundle, an assistant came upon the etching and noticed that it bore the name "Whistler." An art dealer valued it at more than $100.

The etching depicts a scene on the Thames in London and is believed to be one of a series of sixteen the famous American artist made of the Thames Embankment about 1859. The bundle had been stored for some time and the donor was not known.

Careful Washing Preserves Gloves

Light-colored gloves especially, must be clean to give one that "well-groomed" appearance. This is easy if gloves are washable. Just wash them out every night or so when you do your stockings.

For washing your leather gloves, make a rich suds with mild neutral soapflakes, always keeping the water lukewarm or cool. Put on the gloves and wash just as if you were washing your hands. If there are stubborn spots of soil, gently work dry flakes into the leather and continue washing. If the suds get dirty, use a fresh lot of suds. Chamois or doe-skin gloves need not be put on the hands. Just souse them around in the suds as you would a handkerchief.

Remove the gloves by gently rolling them from the wrists and rinse in clear water, lukewarm or cool, to remove particles of dirt. Then work them around in light suds of mild soapflakes—this helps to keep the leather pliable. Squeeze out the moisture. Do not twist. Roll on a dry Turkish towel to remove excess moisture. Unroll at once, blow the gloves into shape and dry at a moderate temperature. Do not freeze or place near excessive heat. While slightly damp, soften the gloves by gently stretching and working the leather between the fingers. Allow them to dry completely.

FILMS ARE SHOWN IN TECHNICOLOR

Members of Historical Society Entertained With Pictures Taken By R. H. B. Ker

Members of the British Columbia Historical Society were entertained with the showing of several reels of technicolor moving films by R. H. B. Ker at their regular meeting in the Provincial Library, last evening. Dr. T. A. Rickard presided.

In addition to several reels of local interest, Mr. Ker delighted the gathering with pictures he filmed himself during the Coronation procession. From a vantage point at the foot of Constitution Hill, his camera presented a clear view of the various features of the lengthy procession.

Other films included the reviewing of the fleet off Spithead by Their Majesties, the Southampton docks, Croydon aerodrome, Epsom Downs on Derby Day, and a visit to Capt. George Vancouver's grave.

Local films of interest depicted the arrival here of President Roosevelt, the naval and military tattoo at MacDonald Park, the arrival of Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, and the night parade arranged by the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration committee.

Mr. Ker's final reel showed several interesting air views over the Strait of Georgia and the city of Victoria.

FOOT CRUSHED IN ELEVATOR MISHAP

While operating a freight elevator in Kelly, Douglas & Company, Ltd., premises at 524 Yates Street yesterday afternoon, Alex Allen, twenty-one, 2724 Forbes Street, received a badly crushed left foot.

Constables Percy W. Richards and Thomas Bannister received a call to the building at 3:45 o'clock. They found Allen caught his foot between the elevator and the bottom of the first floor while proceeding up from the basement.

After rendering first aid, the constables rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment by Dr. George Hall.

TRANSLATED

Young Higson was halting and stuttering his way through a Latin translation. The required word, "sinister," however, proved most elusive. "Surely, now," said his master in persuasive accents, "you know the Latin for 'left?'" A sudden light dawned in the young man's eyes. "Got it," he cried in triumphant tones. "Spinster."

Shirred Bosom---Vee or High Neck

Here's something dressy, but practical, too. It's black crinkle crepe, with flattery of a fitted line through your middle. Soft bosom and high at the throat neck. You'll wear it to town, shopping or to the office, and then on to keep a dinner engagement. A dash of bright red embroidery adorns the wide girdle. Its simple, smart effect and low price will give you a strong desire to make the low Vee neck version or crush-resistant velvet for all those holiday affairs. The narrow self-fabric or the wide girdle with bright gold embroidery is optional.

Style No. 3217 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material for long-sleeved dress.

The Fall and Winter Fashion Book is filled with lovely designs for everyday wear, which are easy and inexpensive to make.

Coast Mission Work Receives Warm Praise

By "A Mother From the North"

A few days ago Rev. Alan Greene, M.A., gave a talk on the Columbia Coast Mission work, at the same time showing some splendid pictures of the Coast and settlers. I was one of the audience, and having lived for about fifteen years and raised my family in some of the districts illustrated, also having relatives there, I may have been more interested than many in the audience. Obviously there are many features of the work that Mr. Greene would not speak of, as it might savor of boasting, although everyone who knows him would say this is foreign to his nature.

At the meeting I longed to tell the audience a little, but could not summon up courage to get to my feet, hence this method, hoping that my simple words may appeal to the hearts and pockets of those who have not already helped this wonderful work. Mr. Greene's Sunday services comprised a very small part of his work and really might have been his easiest day. His weeks were spent in so many varied ways, part of which has already been shown in his pictures, but so many incidents, sometimes sad, sometimes funny, can only be left to the imagination.

PENSIONS OBTAINED

One valuable part was in helping many of the aged settlers in obtaining their pensions. I know of one episode in connection with this. A certain man away up "back of beyond," who had no one to trouble about him, had always been rather too fond of "home brew" and really looked as though he should have had a pension years ago. He thought if Mr. Greene could get it for him, he could just stay content and wait for the end. However, after much trouble and searching, Mr. Greene obtained the man's correct age and it came as a great shock to find he would have to wait another ten years. He decided he was a young man yet, so on the next boat he went down to Vancouver, got his hair cut and a general clean-up, bought a new suit and surprised his neighbors by settling down to work. As far as I know, he is still going strong.

I should like to mention also the work of those who are called up there the "unpaid curates," meaning the "parson's wife" (I hope these ladies will forgive the publicity), but when Mrs. Greene came to the district as a bride, she followed a lady who was loved by all who knew her, Mrs. Comley, now of Victoria. Mrs. Greene proved a worthy successor; not only has she brought up a splendid family, but her home was open to all who needed her help and sympathetic consideration. Her tact was often needed to help straighten out some little difficulty in the settlements; her home was always open to anyone who needed a rest by the way, or someone perhaps arriving too soon for the departure of the boat, or who had missed it. A little room was arranged as a guest chamber and this room has been a blessing to many.

A HELPING HAND

One case in particular I remember. A wife from a neighboring island was anxious to see her husband, lying ill in Campbell River Hospital. There seemed no way of her getting there until Mr. Greene brought her to his home, where Mrs. Greene made her a welcome guest for a week. Each morning she sallied forth with a dainty lunch; a local boatman took her across the straits at reduced fare, and she was able to stay each day by her husband's side, a fact which, no doubt, did much to bring about his ultimate recovery. The woman returned home with her heart brimming over with thankfulness to the dear woman who had made this stay possible. At last Mrs. Greene became the owner of a car (not exactly a Rolls-Royce, but equally appreciated), not for her own pleasure and use so much as the happiness she was able to bring into the lives of others. Every opportunity was taken to convey mothers with their families to the beach, who otherwise would not be able to get this little pleasure.

I could write pages on this same subject, but hope my purpose will be achieved without taking up much more space. I must mention another lady who is now living in Victoria, Mrs. Howard, who was teaching at the Indian settlement, Cape Mudge. Her life was given over entirely to these people, teaching the children, tending the sick, soothing the last moments before departure to the "happy hunting ground." She has left behind a record of loving service. We regret to state her days of retirement are days of suffering, caused mainly by her unselfish devotion to the people to whom she was so devoted.

Before this gets to print, the little boat John Antle will have started once again on its errand of mercy. All around the islands the mission boats will be welcomed for the Christmas cheer they will bring, the arrival being the cause of much merriment and happiness, coast folk meeting perhaps for the only time during the year. Your gifts are more than welcome, not always because of necessity, but because it means that if they are shut away from the cities, they are remembered with love by friends so far away.

Weddings

DAVIDSON—GREEN

A wedding of interest to friends of the bride, who is social editor of The Daily Province, Vancouver, took place last Saturday in Bellingham, Wash., when Lillooet Kennedy, daughter of the late Dr. T. Bennett Green, of New Westminster, and Mrs. Green, of Vancouver, became the bride of Mr. Richard Smith Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davidson, Matthews Avenue, Vancouver. Rev. F. D. Tanner officiated at the ceremony, which took place in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Attending the service as witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Seymour, all of Vancouver. A saxe blue angora wool tailleur was worn by the bride, her suede belt, tall felt hat and accessories in black forming attractive accents. A cluster of gardenias complemented her ensemble.

CLUB PLANS DANCE

The Esquimalt Dramatic Club's special-planned social for Saturday last, at the home of the president, Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman, was canceled owing to the weather. The club has now arranged to hold a dance at the Macaulay Point Golf Club, on Wednesday evening, November 24. The executive has charge of the arrangements and information may be obtained at G 1674. A popular three-piece orchestra has been engaged.

He walked for miles, tired and hungry, until he came to a farmhouse. It was late, and the family had gone to bed. He knocked on the door, and at last a window was raised and a man's voice said: "What do you want?"

"I want to stay here," was the reply.

"All right, stay there!" said the voice, and down went the window.

TELLS DANGER OF INFLATION

R. W. MacKenzie Explains Currency Manipulation to Credit Granters

In the opinion of the Bureau of Economic Research, of Cambridge, Mass., the North American Continent has entered the first of three stages of an inflationary period which may be very dangerous in its final results, R. W. MacKenzie told members of the Credit Granters' Association in an address on the subject of inflation, given in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

There were three stages in inflation, the early, the critical, and the explosive, he explained, and in the light of past experiences of other countries, one was apt to be pessimistic about the future.

Probably no word in the English language was more abused through misunderstanding than "inflation," the speaker said. He gave a concise and interesting explanation of the currency system of the present day, illustrating his points with diagrams. He showed that if there were added to the normal flow of purchasing power a substantial amount of money in excess of that power, the balance was seriously upset and the effect on prices and production became far-reaching.

INFLATION DEFINED

"Inflation" was defined by Mr. MacKenzie as a condition arising when purchasing power was made available to the public at a faster rate than goods were being produced or marketed. Inflation could thus take place in a way that was scarcely recognizable.

The speaker gave much interesting historical information of inflationary movements of the past, and mentioned that the United States of America had experienced five distinct inflationary periods. One of the earliest of such periods in the world occurred in France at the time of the Revolution, when the Government issued forty-five billion francs of currency supposed to be secured by property confiscated from the Church. At the finish, one gold franc would purchase two hundred of the paper francs issued.

Mr. MacKenzie gave many illustrations of what happened when governments resorted to the printing press, and quoted the post-war depression in Germany to demonstrate the disastrous effects of inflation. The effect on insurance and trust funds was one of the saddest things that happened in Germany, he said.

ATLAS THEATRE Paul Muni portrays the humble Chinese farmer, Wang Lung, in "The Good Earth," which shows for the last times today at the Atlas Theatre. The actor who was "Louis Pasteur," "Dr. Socrates" and who played "I Am a Fugitive," excels himself in this new and more intriguing role.

CAPITOL THEATRE Jeanette MacDonald appears in her seventeenth musical triumph, "The Firefly," now at the Capitol Theatre, and it is unmistakably her finest. Allan Jones emerges as a star in his own right. Warren William performs with his accustomed artistry.

DOMINION THEATRE The exotic atmosphere of the interior of North China—rarely if ever before shown in a motion picture and particularly timely today with China in the headlines—is shown in "West of Shanghai," a melodramatic thriller now at the Dominion Theatre.

OAK BAY THEATRE Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, real-life sweethearts of the screen, find their supreme dramatic opportunity together in "This Is My Affair," showing for the last times today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE The amazing versatility and talent of diminutive but dynamic "Ginger" Jane Withers was never so apparent as in her latest Twentieth Century-Fox musical laugh riot, "Can This Be Dixie?" which shows for the last times today at the Plaza Theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE "Wild Bill Hickok," "Calamity Jane," "Buffalo Bill" Cody, General Custer, Jack McCall and a host of other familiar and beloved figures of the old West, come to life again in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Plainsman," which shows for the last times today at the Columbia Theatre.

IS HONORED BY NORMAL SCHOOL

Miss Kate Scanlon, Former Principal of Model School, Receives Gift

Miss Kate Scanlon, who at the end of last term retired from the position of principal of the model school at the Provincial Normal School, Mount Tolmie, which she had held for twenty-two years, was honored by her erstwhile associates and some former pupils on Monday afternoon when they gave a complimentary tea for her in the art room at the Normal School.

The charmingly appointed tea table, at which Mrs. B. S. Freeman presided, was decked with gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Among the members of the present and past staffs present with their wives were Dr. D. L. MacLaurin, ex-principal; Mr. William McMichael, Mr. H. Dunnell and Miss Isabel Barron. Ex-pupils of the model school served tea.

During the afternoon, which for the most part was without formalities of any kind, Miss Scanlon was presented with a watch and a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums, accompanied by an expression of eloquent appreciation of her long years of service. Miss Scanlon, who has been living in Vancouver since her retirement, joined the model school staff as principal in 1915, and endeared herself to both staff and pupils. Before that she taught at the Boys' and Girls' Central Schools, and prior to that in Nelson for some time. She came to British Columbia from Ontario.

During her present visit to Victoria, she is the guest of Miss J. L. McLenaghan, 1260 Fort Street, but expects to return to Vancouver tomorrow.

CHAPTER XXVIII

"I'm glad you came, Syrie," Loder said in an undertone.

"It was kind of you to ask me," she answered.

Loder's wife joined them. "Do you know," she said, looking at Syrie, "I am perfectly sure that you and I have met somewhere before—I wonder where it could have been?" She knit her dark brows in perplexity. "Do you visit the Channons?" she asked.

Syrie shook her head. "I don't know many people in London."

"I am sure we have met," Muriel Loder insisted.

"Dinner is served, madam."

"We'll be quite informal tonight," Muriel Loder said, and led the way for her six guests across the hall.

"You're to sit next to me," Basil told Syrie.

"That will be nice," she said, and really meant it, for she had dreaded finding herself beside a stranger.

The dining-room table was a round one, and it was beautifully decorated with roses and gleaming silver.

Another lovely room, Syrie thought in swift admiration; how wonderful it must be to live in such a place.

Robert was opposite her, with Joan beside him, and on Syrie's left hand was an elderly man with a red face, who after a brief remark about the weather, gave up pretending to be interested in anything except his food.

Loder talked more to the woman on his right than to Syrie, but she did not mind that; she was quite content to be left alone. Presently Muriel Loder said again in her loud voice, "You know I am more certain than ever that you and I have met before, Mrs. Harwood." She appealed to Robert. "Can you suggest any possible place where it might have been?"

"My wife does not know London very well," Robert answered.

"Oh, but if you've been married six months——" Muriel protested.

"Perhaps I'm rather an ordinary type," Syrie said with a faint smile.

She looked across at Robert, but he was laughing and talking to Joan. Yes, she was really rather—charming, Syrie was forced to admit—very—"English looking"—that was a true description. Fair, calm, hardly made-up at all—self possessed—good! And yet with the admission, somehow Syrie understood why Robert had not wished to marry her, and why it would never have occurred to him to ask her to be his unofficial wife.

She would set him too high a standard, and expect him to live up to it; she would want to live an orderly, conventional life, and Robert would hate it; she suddenly remembered how he had said that Joan had laid her life down on rails from which she never permitted it to diverge.

And yet they seemed to be excellent friends—perhaps because they had many mutual acquaintances . . .

Loder touched her hand. "You're not eating anything . . . a penny for your thoughts."

"Not worth it," Syrie said briskly, but she had been thinking how absurd it was ever to have imagined that Basil would give up all this for her sake. Perhaps he did not love his wife, but she knew he must love the luxury she helped to provide.

Muriel's loud voice broke across the buzz of conversation. "What are you two talking about? . . . don't believe a word my husband says, Mrs. Harwood—he's a terrible flatterer."

"I know that," Syrie answered unthinkingly, and suddenly met Robert's eyes across the table. "I've discovered that he is," she amended her words.

"There's nothing to do after dinner," Muriel announced presently. "I hate music as much as I suppose most of you hate it—and I don't play cards. Shall we go on to the Adventure Club? Or what would you like to do? What do you say, Mrs. Harwood?"

Syrie looked appealingly at Robert, who answered for her, "We've had so many late nights . . . I think I must take Syrie home."

Loder looked at Syrie. "Don't desert us," he pleaded. "Come just for an hour—we can dance."

"I think I'll go home, thank you all the same," Syrie said smiling. "Perhaps another night . . ."

When they were all back in the drawing-room, Muriel came across to Syrie. "You know it positively worries me because I cannot remember where it was that I met you before," she said persistently. "I know I am right—I never forget a face—It will keep me awake all night if I . . ."

"Not worth losing your beauty sleep about, my dear," Basil said carelessly. He stifled a yawn. "Well, if we're going to the Adventure——" he looked at Syrie. "Change your mind and come with us," he said.

"You have won my husband's heart, Mrs. Harwood," Muriel broke in. "Say yes, or the poor man will be utterly miserable."

Syrie laughed a little nervously. "I'm very sorry, but I think——" he began, but Muriel Loder gave a loud exclamation.

"Now I know where I met you!" she said triumphantly. "Please forgive me if I am mistaken, but—I am almost sure . . ." Her hard eyes searched Syrie's flushed face before she went on, "Weren't you—once—just for a short time—in my husband's office?"

It seemed to Syrie as if everyone in the room was listening attentively. She saw the angry color rush to Basil's face, and knew that Robert made a swift gesture of denial before she could force herself to answer, very quietly:

"Yes, I was—just for a short time . . . How clever of you to remember."

Amateurism Will Be Discussed at Montreal Meeting

Old Topic Will Be Thoroughly Thrashed Out at Annual Gathering of A.A.U. Officials in East This Week—Sydney Halter Will Be Leader in the Inevitable Fight

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada again will venture into the highly contentious subject of amateurism at its three-day convention here this week, and G. Sydney Halter, of Winnipeg, will be a leader in the inevitable fight.

Halter, second vice-president, will present an amendment to the union constitution designed to broaden the Canadian conception of the word "amateur." Against him will be aligned many of an "old guard" who stood stoutly in the way of a similar move at the Regina convention last year, among them James I. Morkin, K.C., former A.A.U. president, who recently spoke against the Halter proposal.

Halter's amendment is aimed at bringing back into the A.A.U. fold three member bodies which broke away because of the motion's defeat at Regina—the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association and the Canadian Lacrosse Association. Morkin has expressed himself in sympathy with the attempt at reunion but against the method.

RULES DIFFERENT

In effect, Halter's amendment would give each sport the definition of "amateur" laid down by its own international controlling body. The present A.A.U. definition is taken from the definition of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, controlling body of track and field, which differs from the rules of other international bodies. When a sport had no international governing body, the I.A.A.F. definition would take effect.

The A.A.U. of C. then would be in position to accept the definitions demanded by hockey, basketball and lacrosse if those sports chose to return to the fold. Acceptance of the amendment probably would forestall presentation at any A.A.U. meeting in the near future of a blanket amendment like that submitted at Regina.

The financial effect and other repercussions of the breakaways of the C.A.H.A., C.A.B.A. and the C.L.A. remain to be seen in annual reports.

"I believe the A.A.U. of C. can get along without hockey, lacrosse or basketball," said Morkin, vice-president of the Canadian Olympic committee. "If it becomes apparent it cannot survive without them, I still would oppose throwing open wide the gates to 'shamateurism.'"

MAJOR PART

Morkin probably will play a major part in another discussion, for the Southwestern branch seeks to supplant the Canadian Olympic committee with the "Canadian Olympic Association," made up of a chairman, eight or ten vice-presidents, other executives and a representative of each sport on the programme of Olympic events. Adoption of that motion would give hockey and basketball places in the association.

Vancouver Will Not Send Eight To Empire Games

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—Doug Forin, president of the Vancouver Rowing Club, said tonight the club will not send an eight to compete in the 1938 British Empire Games at Sydney, Australia.

Lack of training time was given as the reason for the decision.

"We didn't hear of our selection by the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen until last week," Forin said after a meeting of club officials. "We don't feel there is time enough before December 22—the sailing date—for our team to get in shape.

"They would probably have to compete with crack teams from England, New Zealand and Australia if they went, and they haven't time to get in first-class condition."

Another Swimming Class at the Garden

Here's another of the popular aquatic classes in the "learn to swim" campaign, being staged at the Crystal Garden under the sponsorship of The Daily Colonist. This is the Wednesday afternoon group, who will go through another course of instruction today, with Instructors Fred Ellison and Mrs. Ellison in charge. The morning newspaper's six-week course will wind up next week, and a large majority of the 600 children will receive their diplomas. Since the course started, hundreds of Victoria boys and girls have been taught the finer art of swimming, and are rapidly developing into champions of the future.

NEW YORK DEFEATS AMERICANS BEFORE LARGE HOME CROWD

Neil Colville's Goal Late in First Period Decides Great Game as 16,000 Spectators Look On—Boston Holds Record Intact by Downing Maroons, 1-0—Goldsworthy Scores

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (CP).—The Rangers eked out a 1-0 win over their National Hockey League city rivals, the Americans, tonight, and the result pulled the Patrick men out of the league's sectional cellar, as well as checking the Amerks' bid for first place in the Canadian Division.

A capacity crowd of more than 16,000 fans saw Neil Colville, young pivot star of Rangers, emerge the individual hero of a fast and bruising duel. Colville accepted a pass from Alex Shibicky in the last minute of the opening frame to stickhandle through the American defence and score the lone marker.

The losers waged a relentless but ineffective offensive for the balance of the contest, using four and five forwards through most of the final chapter in quest of the tieing goal.

A fight between Neil Colville and Joe Jerwa, of the Americans, climaxed the exciting third period. Both were given major penalties after the officials had prevented the joust from developing into a free-for-all.

The victory sent the Rangers into a tie with Chicago for second place in the American Division, while the losers held their second-place rung in the Canadian Division standing.

Line-Ups

Rangers—Kerr; Cooper, Heller; N. Colville, M. Colville, Shibicky. Subs.: Coulter, Watson, Dillon, Patrick, Keeling, Pratt, C. Smith, Hextall, Kirk.

Americans — Robertson; Jerwa, Murray; Chapman, Carr; Schriner. Subs.: Day, Gallagher, Stewart, Anderson, Wiseman, Lamb, Shill, Emms, Smith.

Officials—Clarence Campbell and Johnny Mitchell.

Summary

First Period—1, Rangers, N. Colville (Shibicky), 19:25. Penalties: Kirk, Stewart, Heller.

Second Period—No score. Penalties: Schriner, Coulter.

Third Period—No score. Penalties: N. Colville (major), Jerwa (major).

BRUINS BEAT MAROONS

BOSTON, Nov. 16 (CP) — Leroy Goldsworthy's last-period goal broke up a tight National Hockey League game tonight and sent Boston Bruins into a clear lead in the loop's American section by a 1-0 win over Montreal Maroons.

The former Montrealer's tally, after the teams had battled through two rough but scoreless periods, sent the Bruins out two points in front of Chicago Black Hawks in the section standing. Boston had gone into the game tied with Chicago for the top spot.

It was the third straight win for the Bruins, and their second of the season over the Maroons, last-place club of the league's Canadian division. As in the earlier encounter, it was an aggressive battle from start to finish.

Goldsworthy gave the home forces the winning score at 3:50 of the last session, at the end of almost forty-four minutes of goalless hockey spotted by plenty of penalties. Centre Bill Cowley furnished the start of the play.

Hooking a loose puck in the centre zone, Cowley wheeled and passed left to the flying Goldsworthy a few inches inside Montreal territory. Leroy cut past Defenceman Allan Shields and uncorked his scoring shot from five yards out.

Maroons pressed hard after that, but Tiny Thompson in the Boston net handled the barrage of rubber brilliantly.

Line-Ups

Boston — Thompson; Hollett, Shore; Cowley; Beattie, Goldsworthy. Subs.: Weiland, Hamill, Hill, Clapper, Portland, Bauer, Dumart, Schmidt and Jackson.

Montreal — Beveridge; Evans, Wentworth; Blinco; Trottier, Shannon. Subs.: Ward, Runge, Northcott, Shields, Smith, Cain, Gracie, Marker and Voss.

Officials — Mickey Ion and Reg Noble.

Summary

First Period — No score. Penalties: Wentworth, Schmidt, Hill, Hammill.

Second Period—No score. Penalties: Shields, Clapper (two), Shannon (two), Smith, Hill.

Third Period—1, Boston, Goldsworthy (Cowley), 3:50. Penalties: Dumart, Shannon.

WEST ROAD TO PLAY SAILORS

Meet Tonight in Feature Hoop Game at High School Gymnasium

Sailor hoopmen, still seeking their initial victory of the season in the men's senior "B" race, will be out at full strength tonight at the Victoria High School gymnasium, where they are scheduled to oppose West Road in a Victoria and District Basketball League encounter. The tussle is carded as the feature tilt on the three-game programme, and promises to be keenly fought.

In their first meeting with the suburbanites, the Navy went down to defeat in the late minutes of the game, after setting up an early lead. Tonight, however, the bluejackets from Esquimalt feel confident of taking the West Roaders into camp.

Heading the intermediate "A" boys' division, Canadian Scottish cagers will be out to strengthen their hold on the leadership, when they oppose the Ramblers, Dominoes' farm club, in the second fixture on the card. Ramblers, fighting for a play-off berth, will be out in force and have visions of turning back the top quintette.

Gainer's Superiors and Unitys, women's teams, meet in the curtain-raiser at 7:15 o'clock.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

Games carded Friday follow:

8:00—Mount Tolmie C.C.F. vs. Spencers, intermediate "A" boys.

9:00—Liberty Cafe vs. Hoyle-Brown, senior "B" men.

WEMBLEY LIONS WIN LONDON CUP

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP).—Wembley Lions, champions of the National Hockey League last season, won the London Cup tonight by defeating Harringay Racers, 3-1. The cup competition has been going on for several weeks as a prelude to the National League season, which opens November 23.

Ab Welsh, of Saskatoon, and Edgar Murphy, of Ottawa, were the Lion scorers tonight, Welsh bagging a pair. Walter Monson, of Winnipeg, scored the Racers' goal.

The Lion victory gave them a three-point margin over Racers in the cup standing, the same margin by which they won the league title last Spring from the Harringay team. Lions and Racers also play another game Thursday, but the result could not improve Racers' position.

BATTAGLIA TO FACE KRIEGER

Winnipeg Middleweight Meets Brooklyn Boy in New York Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (CP).—Solly Krieger, belting Brooklyn middleweight, was installed a 6-to-5 favorite along Broadway tonight for his ten-round bout tomorrow night with Frankie Battaglia, the Winnipeg walloper who holds the Canadian championship.

But the money boys explained they leaned slightly toward the Brooklyn husky only because he has been more active this year than has Battaglia.

They took notice that Krieger holds a decision over the Canadian clouter, gained in a close bout less than a year ago, but admitted Frankie might quite easily upset the whole plan with a single wallop.

Frankie, who has a considerable following here, is recognized as one of the hardest hitters in a division that abounds in solid punchers.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Blind Flyer—For almost two years, Charles DeWeese, communications laboratory engineer for United Air Lines, has flown in United's "Flying Laboratory" up and down the Pacific Coast, yet he has never had even a glimpse of landscape, clouds, or sky. It has been DeWeese's job to perfect blind flying and blind landing radio apparatus, as well as perfect the radio and static controlling systems of transports. Since every one of his airplane rides has been taken in the radio-testing compartment in the ship's nose, with the door tightly closed and sealed, from take-offs to landings, he never gets a peek of what air travelers see every day.

GOLF—FACTS NOT THEORIES by Alex Morrison

The position of your body has a lot to do with results in your short game. This point was brought up recently by a player whose short game had gone back on him. At one time he was able to get the ball up close to the pin on his approach shots and be quite accurate in his putting but something put him off and he came to me for help.

After watching him hit a few shots I saw that the main cause of his trouble originated in the position of his body, particularly his hips. He had picked up the faulty position which many players have, that of standing with the hips parallel to the line of play. This square stance keeps the body tense and causes the arms and hands to move in a hurried or jerky fashion. I had him change to an open stance, with his hips turned so that his stomach faced towards the hole. This position made it much easier for him to line up his shots and swing the club with a smooth, accurate motion of his hands.

The change brought immediate improvement and an observation by the pupil which was most gratifying to me. He recognized in the open stance for short shots something that all good players use.

SETTLEMENT ANNOUNCED

Tommy Farr and Manager Said to Have Settled Recent Dispute

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas)—A provisional settlement of the dispute between Tommy Farr, British heavyweight champion, and his manager, Ted Broadribb, was announced today by solicitors for Farr.

Farr, who made a gallant bid for the world's heavyweight championship held by Joe Louis, split with Broadribb recently, accusing him of "irregularities" in his post as manager to the Louis bout last September.

The manager charged Farr with breaches of two written agreements under which Broadribb became manager. Farr maintained their bonds were broken off by mutual agreement.

Under the terms of the provisional settlement Farr will pay Broadribb £3,000 (about $15,000) and indemnify him for all costs. Broadribb will hand over all contracts signed by Farr and leave him free to act as his own manager.

Sir James Leigh-Wood, who has taken several track teams to Canada, will manage the entire English Empire team which includes track and field, rowing, swimming, cycling, boxing, wrestling and fencing competitions.

DR. FRANK PATTERSON JOINS BUDGET DEBATE

there is no excuse for a policy of marking time.

WRONG COURSE FOLLOWED

"During the term of the last Legislature, British Columbia was singularly unfortunate inasmuch as the Government not only abandoned the fundamental principles of democracy, but adventured upon wild and uncertain experiments, which, if pursued to a finality, would inevitably bring disaster. Mistakes that have been costly in the past were repeated and extended, while definite pledges made to the public were shamelessly ignored.

"We witnessed the seizure of legislative functions by Government by way of the Special Powers Act; defiance of public opinion in connection with the improvident contract for the Fraser River Bridge; the failure of marketing administration to satisfy the primary producers; the fiasco of health insurance through abandonment of elementary business principles in its formative processes; the serious blow to provincial mining through loss of confidence attributable to the Hedley Amalgamated scandal, and impairment of public funds through wild extravagance.

PROMISES BROKEN

"We also witnessed the cruel deception of the unfortunate unemployed in the matter of work and wages; the broken promise in respect to a highway commission, and the abrogation of a pledge to create a public utilities board; while municipalities which were led to expect real assistance were given but little practical help in their difficulties. Such a record is not one of which honorable gentlemen should be proud," Dr. Patterson declared.

Actions of the administration at the general election had not restored public confidence, the Leader of the Opposition continued. Costs of government had gone up $7,000,000 in four years, and a shortage of $12,434,000 had been developed in the sinking funds. In spite of peak revenues, when relief was taken into account, there had been a deficit of $2,500,000 in current operations, and the debt had been increased $5,500,000, according to public accounts last presented. The record did not appear to be one of sound financing. For over-expenditures of millions there was no justification, and British Columbia could not continue along such a ruinous road.

OBLIGATIONS AHEAD

Dr. Patterson said British Columbia would be faced with maturing obligations of $117,000,000 within the next five years, which, after taking sinking funds of $36,000,000 into account, would still leave the staggering sum of $81,000,000 to finance within that period. Not a fraction of the sum could be paid from revenue. Large-scale refinancing would be necessary, and costly.

In 1933 the Province had been indebted to the Dominion for $4,250,000 advanced on relief; but that had increased sevenfold, until $31,000,000 was so owed at present.

If this was use of the national credit, it was by indirection. At the present rate the Province was leaving its debts to posterity and robbing posterity of any ability to pay them.

Pointing to differences between the Comptroller-General's report and the balance sheet of the budget, Dr. Patterson complained of the manner in which public accounts were set up. The public accounts showed that actual expenditures had exceeded estimated expenditures by $1,220,000 in one period, or at the rate of $4,050 a day for 300 days. This sum alone would have provided real work and wages for 1,000 men at $4 a day for a full working year. Large supplementary votes had been laid before the Legislature in the last four years.

MUNICIPAL AID

Aid to municipalities had been promised as soon as provincial revenues recovered. The revenues had recovered, but the municipalities had not yet been benefited to any practical degree. Cities were told to await the report of the Rowell Commission some years hence, and changes in the B.N.A. Act which could in no way concern them.

One of the largest capital revenues of the province, forestry, was threatened, and nothing effectual had been done about it. The Conservative party stood pledged to forest conservation, and believed that the necessary sums could be provided for reforestation and adequate fire prevention from current revenues. The issue was the preservation of the timber industry from extinction, with disastrous effects to all business in British Columbia.

In a year in which primary production had increased 88 per cent, the revenue from its products 65 per cent, population 5 per cent, the province was spending $14 per capita on relief of unemployment. The new Ministry of Trade and Industry would be duplication of Federal effort; the Economic Council had produced weighty tomes but no solutions; nad now it was proposed to annex the Yukon on a nebulous plan.

British Columbia could not finance the Alaskan highway, and this was Federal business anyway. Meanwhile, British Columbia roads were crying out for attention. He would submit that the Administration should lay aside its hallucinations of grandeur and return to practical, common-sense government, Dr. Patterson said, in conclusion.

R. B. BURNS

Mr. Burns told of Doukhobor troubles in Rossland-Trail, and said that the trouble was made by a few dissentients in that sect. He urged highway development in his riding, and called on the Government to undertake sewer facilities, to make possible a private housing programme for 200 persons in Trail.

LOUIS LE BOURDAIS

Mr. Le Bourdais, internationally known as a writer, rose late in debate and obviously cut short his address. He pointed to the high courage of the people of the North, pioneering in mining, cattle-raising and other ventures which had ridden his riding of relief, and reduced demands for help to a practical one for opening of road transportation. Mining was bringing more than $2,000,000 a year to the Cariboo now, and if encouraged wisely, would lift the province out of greater problems than any faced at present. Beef grading would assist the livestock industry, and protect the consumers; and land settlement should be simplified, Mr. Le Bourdais said, in conclusion.

Plotting Against Hollywood Jews

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16 (AP).—Chief Investigator Eugene Williams, of the district attorney's office has disclosed that alleged plots to bomb the homes of Hollywood film notables of Jewish origin and sympathy are under investigation by his staff.

For several days, Williams said, complaints have reached him concerning the activities of Southern California anti-Semitics.

CRICKET PHRASEOLOGY

Husband and wife were spending the afternoon at a cricket match. During the interval she began to speak of old times. "Why, George, dear," she suddenly exclaimed, "I've just remembered it was at a cricket match that you proposed to me." "Why bring that up?" he asked. "Ah, George," she persisted romantically; "you were bold then." "Caught, you mean," he replied.

Steels Help to Steady Market On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—An unusually erratic stock market today jumped through a series of rallies and declines, and finished on a mild recovery move, engineered by the major steels.

Early losses of 1 to more than 3 points were reduced or replaced by moderate gains in many cases at the close, but at that numerous issues were sufficiently under water to pull The Associated Press average of sixty stocks down .4 of a point to 46.9.

After a rapid slide at the start, dealings turned quiet and continued so throughout the remainder of the session. Transfers totaled 1,269,370 shares, compared with 1,450,210 yesterday.

Corporate bond market went limp today as prices ended fractions to around a point lower, but the United States Governments were 9-32 of a point higher to 2-32 of a point lower.

The Associated Press average for twenty rails dropped .7 of a point to 74.1, while ten utilities dipped .3 to 98.2, and ten industrials declined .2 to 93.3.

Foreign dollar loans were uneven. Brazilian issues moved a shade higher, while other South American obligations pointed down. Japanese and Italian issues recorded fractional gains, while German loans were easier.

SMALL GAIN IN WHEAT FUTURES

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP).—Wheat futures ended narrow trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with gains of 3-8 to 3-4 cent. November future closed at $1.08 1-4; December, $1.13 3-4 to $1.13 7-8; May, $1.10 7-8 to $1.11, and July, $1.05 5-8.

Sales of Canadian wheat for export again were small and lack of keen demand for top grades of cash wheat caused prices to ease 1 to 2 cents.

Buenos Aires at noon was 1 1-8 to 1 3-4 cents higher. A modified estimate placed recent Argentine wheat loss due to frost at 50,000,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed 3-4 to 1 3-4d lower on Australian selling.

Overseas trade reports indicated Greece was again showing interest in Canadian durums and the United Kingdom millers were more satisfied with quality of United States wheat now offered.

Advances of a cent for Nos. 1 and 2 durums featured cash wheat operations. Most of the buying was credited to exporters. Nos. 1 and 2 Northern grades eased 1 and 2 cents, respectively, to 17 and 13 cents above the November future.

Coarse grain offerings were light and all futures were firm. Speculative buying placed rye 1 5-8 to 1 1-2 cents higher.

TORONTO STOCKS IN LATE SPRINT

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP).—Toronto Stock Market sprinted in the last ten minutes of today's session, converting many losses into narrow gains.

Brazilian pushed up quickly to 14 1-4 for a net gain of 1 1-4.

Base metals opened the day decidedly weak on sharply lower London metal prices. Noranda and Smelters were off 1 1-2 and Nickel a point. In the late rally Nickel came up to show a small net gain and Smelters cut the loss to a point. Hudson Bay held to the up side by 1 1-4 and Noranda was still down 1 1-2 at the close.

Strength of sterling against United States dollars helped the gold share market and buying was quite heavy in the seniors. Dome gained 1 3-4 and McIntyre 1 1-4. Cheaper golds also were up.

Western oils tightened up in the late session. Royalite added 7-8, closing at 35; Calgary & Edmonton gained 15 to 1.90 and small advances were showing for Brown, Commonwealth, Okalta and Eastcrest.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT - By Fred Neher

"And I Think Your Skyscrapers and American Girls Are Wonderful."

Jane Dixon Says:

A LOVE THAT REQUIRES OF US THE LOWERING OF OUR MORAL STANDARD IS WORSE THAN WORTHLESS

A love that requires of us the lowering of our moral standard is worse than worthless. It is a menace, and should either be cleaned up or cast out.

My Dear Miss Dixon: For two years I've been going about steadily with a young man who has everything in his favor—fine family, college education, excellent position in his father's firm, which will be his firm some day—handsome, and with great personal charm.

We are not actually engaged, but for the past year there has been an understanding between us that we would marry within a few years. Neither of us was quite ready to settle down and take on the responsibilities of a home and, perhaps, a family.

Everything was fine until a couple of months ago, when I noticed a change coming over my friend. He used to take a drink or two at a party, or when we went some place for the evening. Then it was two or three; then three or four, and so on. He had always been clean-minded nad respectful. He started saying things with double meanings and laughing at them. He found my embarrassment terribly funny. The evening he told me his first off-color story I was so shocked I made an excuse to return home, and I cried all night. Next time we were together he had a couple of "rare new ones," and insisted on telling them in spite of my pleading with him to keep them to himself. Now he makes a regular collection of such stories—they get more and more revolting. If I stop my ears with my fingers he calls me "Miss Prim," holds my hands and forces me to hear what he is saying.

He never used profanity until this change came over him. Now, he manages to get a "cuss word" in almost every sentence.

I stood for these offences because I thought it was just a mood, and that if I held my ground and tried to influence him to be his old self, the mood would pass.

It's gone from bad to worse, Miss Dixon. This young man has made advances no girl of virtuous behavior can overlook, and he insists, if our affair is to continue, I must respond to them.

I know you will tell me to send him on his way, and a good riddance; but I find I love him, and the thought of losing him makes me miserable. What can I do?—Violet.

Answer: Have a frank talk with the young man. Try to make him see himself as the clean young man he was, and then the smudged one he is now. Tell him you care deeply for him, and that you want to help him be the fine, forthright fellow that is his real self. Ask him to confide in you what has brought about the change so that you may fight it together.

If he thinks so little of your love and your respect that he scoffs at your offer or refuses it, there is a rotten spot somewhere within him. Terminate your friendship swiftly and sharply. Such a move may bring him to his senses, jolt him back into the decent way wherein he can repair the damage he has done to himself and to you.

At any rate, this is your only hope of reclaiming him. If it fails, you will have to be brave enough to face the truth—which is that the young man is a thorough-going rotter, too weak and wilful to profit by the many advantages he has been given, too evil of heart and of mind to be the companion of a good woman.

Human character is a delicate fabric. No matter how closely it has been knit, once it starts to unravel, unless the cause of the break is found and overcome, the entire garment becomes a mass of soiled ravelings almost in a twinkling.

"HEDGING" A BET—FROM "INCLOSURE"

"Why," cried out Job, "is light given to man whom God hath hedged in?"

An old word is "hedge" and as native as any in our lexicon; for we have it from the Old English hegge, inclosure.

Such is the fecundity of language that from this one sense springs the variety of shades of meaning within which is fenced the word "hedge."

Commonly, "hedge" indicates a thicket of bushes, shrubbery or evergreens; but it is the purpose for which this growth is planted that underlies the use of the word; for it is there to separate, to surround for defence, to hem in and guard by inclosing.

So, "hedging" a bet is a perfectly logical extension and application of the word. By betting on both sides, the wager and wagerer are inclosed by protective conditions.

That Body of Yours
(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

ENCOURAGE THE CHILDREN TO PLAY GAMES

When we see the motion pictures of thousands of men (and often women also) doing the massed drills or calisthenic exercises, we cannot but realize how great must be the benefit to them physically—stronger hearts and lungs, better digestion, less constipation, and the buoyancy of spirit that comes with a well-developed body undergoing daily physical exercise.

Sweden, Denmark, Russia, Germany, Great Britain, are all encouraging these group exercises. There is, however, a further step that should be taken by all nations.

Recently in Great Britain the Physical Training and Recreation Bill passed its third reading in the House of Commons. "The aim is to build up a new leadership to train men and women and to inspire the whole nation with the ideal of personal fitness."

"Every child is to have access to physical education. Work in this direction has already been done by the National Playing Fields Association, which has helped provide 1,600 playing fields and spaces during the past twelve years. Most of these are in the factory districts, where the need is greatest. Their aim is not mass drill formation, but to develop the desire for physical health and recreation by encouraging the playing of team games, which develop mental activity as well. They would rather have a million people doing 100 yards in twelve or thirteen seconds than a few sprinters doing it under ten."

I believe that all parents, everybody in fact, realizes the physical, and, to some extent, the mental development obtained from basketball, football, cricket, hockey, lacrosse, baseball and other games, but the all-round moral or spiritual development attained by these games is often overlooked.

A boy (or girl) who must control the impulse to play unfairly (commit a foul), thus controlling the temper when temptation is great, for the sake of his or her team, is developing self-control for the days to come. Similarly, the will or obedience to play in the outfield in baseball, the wing line in football, the defence in basketball, when to be the pitcher, the half-back or the forward is his great desire or ambition, is developing an unselfishness that will be a part of him throughout his entire life.

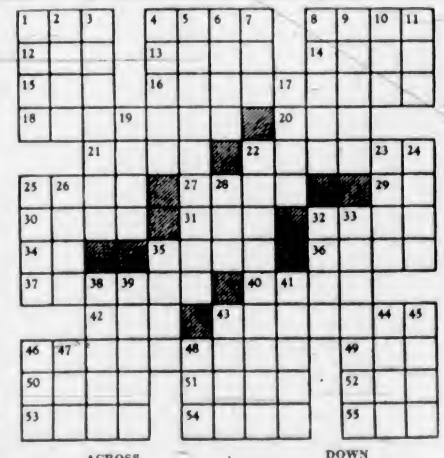

And playing one's best when the team is being badly beaten is acquiring the "stick-to-it-tiveness" to face and fight the problems of life.

Chinese Retreat All Part of Plan, Declares Editor

Local Chinese residents are not unduly alarmed at the retreat of the Nationalist armies from Shanghai. According to Walter Lee, editor of The New Republic, local Chinese daily newspaper, the retreat is all part of the plan. When the Japanese approach the main defence line, close to Nanking and along the Yellow River, they will be attacked from all sides, he said.

Mr. Lee contends that China does not lack supplies and that the blockade was effective only on part of the coast. Munitions, he insists, are reaching the Chinese via Hongkong. Other routes open to supplies for the defenders are Indo-China, Mongolia and Russian Turkestan.

DOCKING AN HOUR LATER

Empress of Canada Reaching Rithet Piers at 8 This Morning

According to the latest advices received at the local offices of Canadian Steamships yesterday afternoon, the Ss. Empress of Canada, Captain W. T. Kinley, R.N.R., commander, inbound from the Philippines by way of China, Japan and Hawaii, will arrive alongside Rithet Piers at 8 o'clock this morning.

The Canada has 266 travelers in all classes aboard. Prominent passengers include C. A. Momber, official of the Shanghai Dockyards; S. Lang, formerly of Vancouver, now of Kobe, Japan, importer, and R. R. Roxburgh, Far Eastern representative of Thornycroft engines.

Chief Steward William Parr, taking furlough, will leave the Canada on arrival at Vancouver, and holiday in England. The ship's arrival at the Mainland port will also see an exchange of ticket agents. Robert McEwen, formerly rail traffic representative of the Canadian Pacific's liner of the Pacific fleet and for the last year attached to the Atlantic fleet, returns to Pacific fleet to join Empress of Canada. Alan McGiffin, formerly of the Atlantic staff, who exchanged with Mr. McEwen, is returning to the Atlantic.

HERE OVERNIGHT

Coming in from Rotterdam and Europe, the Holland-America Line Ms. Damsterdyk arrived alongside of Rithet Piers overnight. The Damsterdyk brought in eight passengers for British Columbia destinations, and was to unload 275 tons of general cargo before continuing to Mainland ports. The combined freight and passenger ship was also to pick up while here some cooperage stock for delivery in Europe.

LUMBER SHIP

Ms. Benekom, which arrived alongside Ogden Point Piers on Monday night, was yesterday stowing a shipment of lumber for the United Kingdom. The freighter came in from Cowichan Bay, and is taking 600,000 feet.

RESTORER

Captain C. M. C. Fleming, master of the cableship Restorer, has cabled Mrs. Fleming, stating that the ship has left Singapore. Just when the ship will return to Victoria is not known.

HEAVY CARGO

When the crack Norwegian Ms. John Bakke sails for the British Isles tonight, her holds will contain one of the heaviest general cargoes to be stowed aboard a Knutsen Line vessel this year. At British Columbia ports the John Bakke has lifted twenty-three carloads of apples; over 500,000 feet of lumber, 1,400 cases of canned salmon, 1,000 tons of wheat, 1,635 tons of metal, 2,000 doors, parcels of plywood and general.

BLUE STAR SHIP

At the Port of New Westminster the Blue Star refrigerator ship Fresno Star will complete stowing 2,500 tons of general cargo today. The principal shipments going aboard the Fresno Star include apples, metal, lumber and general.

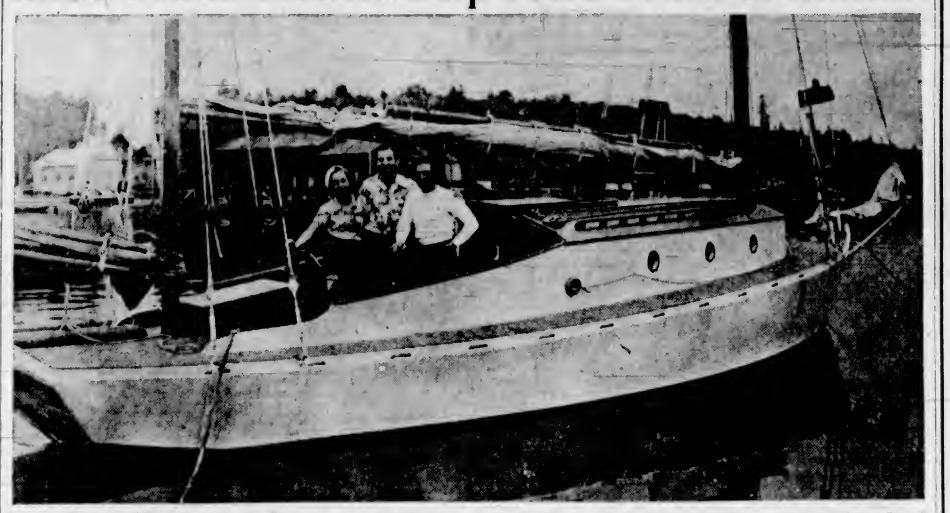

PURCHASED SHIP

Purchase of the freighter Chincha by James Griffiths & Sons, Seattle, from W. R. Grace & Company, has been announced. The Chincha replaces the Ms. Carriso, recently sold by the Griffith interests. She will be operated between Puget Sound and California. The Chincha is of 3,237 tons gross. She was built in 1920 at Mobile. She is 324 feet long, forty-six feet beam and twenty-five feet deep.

BOOSTS IN RATES

Trans-Atlantic freight rates on Scotch whisky are to be advanced from $12.75 to $15 per ton, measurement, on January 1, through an agreement reached between the National Association of Alcoholic Beverage Importers and the United Kingdom Westbound Conference. It is expected the volume of these shipments will run between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 cases this year. Thirty-five cases constitute a measurement ton, and it is not expected that the new rate will increase the price to consumers.

Little Trans-Pacific Ship Here From Honolulu

Lying at Enterprise Wharf alongside Te Rapunga, of world-wide cruising fame, is the yawl Teal with a party of two aboard: Skipper Roy P. Durhack and Mate Francis Langdon. The Teal made the passage from Honolulu to Port Angeles in thirty-one days, with a crew of three sailing her: Durhack, Langdon and Miss Hedden, who left the craft at Bremerton and returned to Hawaii. The Teal has recently been on an extended cruise along the British Columbia coast. The picture shows Miss Hedden, Durhack and Langdon in the cockpit of the little ship.

LOGGER ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Nov. 16 (CP).—Robert Gibson, North Thompson Valley logger, was acquitted by an Assize Court jury here today for the murder of Erne Anderson, thirty-one, fellow logger, who died at a Blue River pole camp three weeks ago from a stab wound.

Anderson was stabbed in the arm with a pocket knife when a melee broke out in Gibson's cabin during an all night party of loggers.

DEATH TAKES WHARF AGENT

Canadian Pacific Employee Passes at Vancouver After Lengthy Illness

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—After a lengthy illness, Andrew M. Innes, wharf agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, passed away here today. He was born in Caithness, Scotland, fifty-six years ago, coming to Canada in 1906 to join the Canadian Pacific in the vice-president's office at Winnipeg.

He came to Vancouver in 1908, went to Revelstoke in 1909 as chief clerk to the superintendent, was yardmaster at Field in 1912-1913, and returned to Vancouver in 1913 to become chief clerk to the superintendent. He has been wharf agent in charge of Pier D, Pier BC and other docks and wharves of the Canadian Pacific here for the past eight years.

Mr. Innes was active in the establishment of the Canadian Pacific Medical Association in British Columbia, formerly acted as its secretary and latterly as treasurer. Today this organization embraces nearly 7,000 employees and their dependents in British Columbia.

His work for the Y.M.C.A. during his lifetime recently won him honorary life membership; he headed various horticultural societies from time to time in Vancouver; was honorary president of the Caithness Society, and Past Master of Victory Lodge No. 94, A.F. & A.M.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Thomas; and two daughters, Jessie and Hilda, at the family home here.

SAD BLOW TO COAST TRADE

Withdrawal of Pioneer Intercoastal Services Is Definitely Decided Upon

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—A sad blow to Pacific Coast shipping and the business of California in particular was received this week when officials of both the Grace and Panama Pacific Lines definitely announced the withdrawal of their six big liners from the intercoastal trade.

At a meeting held by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco fully 200 representatives, including Mayor Rossi and Congressmen Welch and Havenner, were bluntly informed of the cold facts leading to the transfer of the six super liners from the intercoastal trade to another more profitable service, presumably the east coast South America run.

PRODUCED FIGURES

Representing the Panama Pacific Line was Kenneth D. Dawson, vice-president in charge of the Pacific Coast, and Kermit Roosevelt, vice-president of the company, with headquarters in New York. A. Crawford Green, a prominent San Francisco attorney representing the Panama Pacific Line as spokesman, produced a number of figures which proved that the Panama Pacific Line in its intercoastal operation showed a loss of $5,311,000 over a period of the past seven years.

Speaking for the Grace Line, Edward T. Ford said:

"The new merchant marine act forbids payment of subsidy to vessels engaged in any degree in the intercoastal trade between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States.

On June 30 last, an annual mail subsidy of $1,040,000 paid to the Grace Line for the operation of the steamships Santa Rosa, Santa Paula and Santa Elena was terminated by this act of Congress.

Operating expenses have constantly increased. These increases are spread through practically every item of voyage expense. Pursuant to another act of Congress, Panama Canal tolls on these vessels are to be substantially increased on March 1 next.

STUDIED CAREFULLY

After giving the matter careful study for more than a year, this combination of circumstances has forced us to the reluctant conclusion that continued operation of these vessels to and from California is not possible without heavy losses.

"It will be apparent that the Grace Line, after operating in the California trade ever since sailing ship days, would not willingly consider retiring these vessels if conditions justified continued operation.

"The patronage accorded the service by the traveling public and shipping public of the Pacific Coast and mountain states is gratefully appreciated. It is a case of deep regret that necessity has compelled the contemplated change."

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—Reports reached here today from herring fishermen up the British Columbia Coast that satisfactory catches have been obtained in two new grounds at Cousins Inlet, near Ocean Falls, and at Moses Inlet, off Rivers Inlet.

Ms. John Bakke was loading for Europe and Ss. Point Brave was loading for England in New Westminster tonight.

At Vancouver, Ms. Brynie was discharging an Eastern Canadian cargo and Ms. Tyr was unloading Fiji sugar. The former will load for the British West Indies and the latter for Australia.

Two Accused Are Advised by Court To Obtain Counsel

James H. Surrey and Klieve Kelfer were before the police magistrate again yesterday to face a charge of assault with intent to rob. After taking the evidence of one witness who had to leave the city, the hearing was further adjourned until Thursday. Surrey, who was also charged with breaking and entering by night, had this case also remanded until that date.

In granting a remand, Magistrate H. C. Hall pointed out to the accused, who appeared without counsel, that the charges were serious and he would advise them to consider the matter of having counsel if possible.

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Does the Work in a Hurry. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really superior cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
